Ike To Address Nation Shortly Before Takeoff

Thursday Night Talk To Precede Tour Departure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will appeal to America Thursday for cooperation at home to promote the world peace climate he hopes to create in an 11-nation tour.

The appeal, which will be televised nationwide, will immediately precede his departure on the goodwill journey.

Announcing plans for a 15-minute talk beginning at 7:15 p.m. EST, Thursday, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President will discuss his trip abroad and such domestic issues as the court-suspended steel strike.

Steel Dispute Unsettled

"The President will talk about the need for stronger cooperation among the several groups that make up the American economy so that the nation's progress toward peace will be insured and enhanced," Hagerty said.

There are indications that Eisenhower will again urge industry and the Steelworkers Union to settle their dispute to prevent resumption of the strike when the court injunction expires Jan. 26.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's discussion of the 22,000-mile trip will center around "the strengthening of cooperation among those countries in pursuit of their own security and progress in the attainment of world peace with justice."

Legislators Back Trip

Eisenhower won approval for his forthcoming adventure into personal diplomacy at an early White House breakfast meeting with congressional leaders of both parties.

In a session lasting only an hour the President sketched briefly his plans for some of the 30 speeches he will make during his round of visits to European, Asian and North African countries.

Although some Democratic leaders privately said they were puzzled why they had been summoned from their home states to a meeting that they regarded as little more than perfunctory, they all joined with their Republican colleagues in endorsing the objectives of the presidential journey.

Churchill Celebrates With Vigor

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill refused to act his age Monday and celebrated his 85th birthday with the vigor of a man many years his junior.

He downed a hearty lunch and topped it off with brandy. Despite a cold damp day, he then went off to the House of Commons — and moved it to cheers. He even made a speech.

And before anyone else could make a long one, he headed home for a bang-up birthday party — a table groaning with food and wine and a 60-pound, four-tier internationally flavored birthday cake.

Churchill's doctor, Lord Moran, visited Britain's great wartime leader during the day and came out smiling.

"I'm happy to say," Lord Moran told reporters, "that he is in excellent health."

The great man's day began as it does nearly always—with a long time in bed reading the newspapers and messages. The messages made a weighty pile, including congratulations from all over the world, President Eisenhower's among them.

Records Fall As Cold Wave Chills South

Florida Reports Damage To Crops; Tenn. Has Snow

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Winter made an early invasion of the South Monday. Snow fell in some sections and crop damage reports came from extreme south Florida where ordinarily warm breezes blow even in December.

Bright sunshine brought warmer temperatures in the afternoon, but the current cold wave was expected to send the mercury in thermometers from the Carolinas to Louisiana near or below freezing again.

Several points in the southland reported record lows for the date. In Montgomery, Ala., the 20-degree reading was the lowest for Nov. 30 since 1872.

The cold combined with a strong wind to cause considerable damage to bean and tomato crops in the truck farming area near Miami. The winter resort city had a low of 42 and was swept by icy winds up to 40 miles an hour in gusts.

Tennessee had overnight snow that piled up in places and nearly blocked roads. But the sun quickly melted it.

The Deep South freeze was actually colder than many parts of the traditionally frigid North. Minneapolis, for example, had a low of 22 above zero early Monday. So did Milwaukee, and Cleveland and Buffalo, N.Y. It didn't get below 25 in New York City, or 24 in Chicago.

Fairbanks, Alaska, was colder than Albany, Ga., by one degree, with a low reading of 18. But Juneau, Alaska, had a relatively balmy 37-degree minimum.

The East Coast remained chilly Monday, right up to Maine.

Four Salvagers Fail To Receive Bid For Tanker

NORFOLK, Va. (UPI) — The saga of four men's fight against the sea for a fortune ended in disappointment Monday on the cold sidewalk outside a federal courthouse.

Not a single bid was offered for the rusting, oil-covered hulk of the salvaged tanker "African Queen," which limped home under tow to a tumultuous welcome last Sept. 27 with an exhausted band of amateur salvagers aboard.

Boat whistles and car horns greeted the "Queen" when she was towed into drydock, climaxing a five-month battle to do what the experts said couldn't be done — raise the stern section from a shoal off the Maryland coast.

The amateurs hoped to sell the stern section for up to three million dollars.

Monday, a crowd of 65 or 70 persons, mostly curious spectators, gathered in 39 degree cold at a public auction. But no one offered a bid.

Auctioneer Joseph Gillehand, a deputy U. S. marshal, called repeatedly for bids, starting at $250,000. This was the minimum sale price set by Federal District Judge Walter E. Hoffman when the salvagers asked him to put their prize on the auction block because they could not find an independent buyer.

Monday, a crowd of 65 or 70 persons, mostly curious spectators, gathered in 39 degree cold at a public auction. But no one offered a bid.

The prosecutor demanded the death penalty, too, for Young, who was born in Indianapolis, Ind., and Fernando Pruno Bertot, 24, former Cuban student at Columbia University in New York.

Thirty-year prison sentences were asked for Lambton and the 36 other defendants. Among the Cuban defendants were two women.

Evidence Water On Venus Reported By Balloonists

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientists Monday reported evidence of water vapor in the atmosphere of Venus, raising the possibility that some sort of life may exist on the bright planet.

The discovery, a scientific first, was made with instruments carried 15 miles into the stratosphere over the week-end by Navy balloonist Malcolm Ross and Dr. Charles B. Moore, a meteorologist of Cambridge, Mass.

It could upset previous belief that Venus was a dead world. The instruments were designed by Dr. John Strong, professor of experimental physics at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore.

Strong told reporters at a new conference here that:

"The experiment in our opinion indicated there is water vapor on Venus. How much there is will take some time to determine."

Over 50 Hurt In Chicago 'El' Train Collision

CHICAGO (UPI)—An elevated train loaded with rush hour passengers crashed into the rear of a standing train Monday, throwing passengers into screaming heaps and injuring 56.

Motorman Vernon S. Brookins, 44, was trapped in his cab when his eight-car train smashed into a four-car train bound for suburban Evanston. The wreckage clamped down on Brookins' foot until firemen freed him.

Brookins told detectives he suffered from a bleeding ulcer and had never piloted a train before on the stretch of North Side "el" tracks where the crash occurred.

Doctors at Weiss Memorial Hospital gave Brookins an electrocardiogram test and reported he had a "very abnormal" heart condition.

Police started an investigation to determine whether Brookins' physical condition might have slowed his reflexes so that he could not stop his train in time. Police Capt. John P. Fahey said he would also question officials of the Chicago Transit Authority (CTA) about the physical standards required of its motormen.

Passengers said Brookins' train was traveling at 15 to 20 miles per hour when it hit. Two cars went off the tracks and passengers, many of them domestic servants on their way to work in Lake Shore apartments, were hurled to the floor.

Ambulances ferried the injured to five area hospitals.

Most of the injured were released after treatment and x-rays.

Tax Hike, New Levy Sought In Baltimore
BALTIMORE (AP) — The City Board of Estimates Monday recommended a 26-cent increase in the property tax rate and a tax on deposits of savings and loan associations.

Part of this added revenue would be used for a new teachers salary scale and for tax rebates to the Armco Steel Co. and possible other firms.

The property tax increase was anticipated and would require city residents next year to pay $3.60 on each $100 of assessed valuation. The proposed rate would be a new record.

Mayor J. Harold Grady, speaking for the board, said the savings and loan tax would amount to 10 cents on each $100 of deposits held by the institutions, exempting the first $500,000.

Three Cops Charged With Rape Of Negro

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Two patrolmen and an auxiliary police officer were arrested Monday and charged with the aggravated rape of a 23-year-old Negro woman.

The three, all white, were dismissed from the Police Department.

The officers were identified as patrolmen Anthony Saltalamacchia, 25, and Ronald Raymond, 23, and auxiliary policeman Peter Callan Jr., 30.

The alleged attack occurred in the woman's car early Sunday. Aggravated rape is a capital offense in Louisiana.

Hungarian Red Boss Raps U.S., Declares Soviet Troops Stay

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — With Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev an intent listener, Janos Kadar declared Monday Soviet troops are staying in Hungary.

The Hungarian Communist party leader lashed out at the United States in opening the party's first Congress since the 1956 uprising.

Kadar placed major blame for the 1956 uprising on "international imperialism headed by U.S. reactionary quarters." He accused the United States of spending huge sums of money to agitate against Hungary inside and outside the United Nations.

Nehru Baffled By Conflicting Kidnap Claims

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru said Monday he is unable to determine whether the United States or Red China is telling the truth in their exchange of kidnapping charges.

"All this sounds more like some piece of fiction than fact," Nehru told Parliament.

Red China handed the government a note charging the Americans kidnaped Chang Chien-yu, a member of its consulate general staff in Bombay last Thursday. Peiping said Chang was forced to sign a statement asking asylum in the United States.

In Washington, State Department press officer Lincoln White called the Peiping version absurd and accused the Communist Chinese of trying to cover up their own illegal behavior by fabricating this charge.

The United States filed a protest Saturday accusing the Red Chinese consulate general at Bombay of kidnapping Marine Sgt. Robert Armstrong, 34, of Los Angeles when he drove up in front of the Chinese compound with Chang last Friday. Armstrong later was handed over to Indian police by the Chinese.

Nehru said Chang and Armstrong had been notified to remain in India until the government completes its investigation.

Jet Endurance Mark Claimed For Bomber

WASHINGTON (UPI)—An Air Force B-47 bomber claimed an endurance record for jet planes Monday with a continuous flight of 80 hours, 36 minutes covering a distance of 39,200 miles.

The six-engine plane, commanded by Capt. Shelton J. Anthony Jr., was refueled in flight from a KC-135 jet tanker.

It flew a distance equal to 1 3/5 times around the world although it never actually left the continental United States.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — President Eisenhower has no plans to play golf during his Dec. 3-22 goodwill mission abroad, the White House said Monday.

FCC Questions 'Fix' Figures Right To Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission moved Monday to decide whether Jack Barry and Dan Enright, former owners of two fixed TV quiz shows, should be allowed to continue operating a radio station in Florida.

It was the FCC's first direct step in the wake of recent testimony before a House subcommittee that certain TV quiz shows were rigged. Two of those shows were Twenty-One and Tic-Tac-Dough, both owned by Barry and Enright. They have been dropped by NBC.

The commission made public a letter saying it is reviewing the license of radio station WGMA in Hollywood, Fla. It noted that WGMA's stock is owned in equal shares by Barry and Enright who operate it under the corporate name of Melody Music Inc.

The FCC told the firm testimony about quiz show fixing "raises serious questions concerning the character qualifications of Mr. Enright and whether Melody Music Inc., of which he is an officer, director and 50 per cent owner, is qualified to own and operate a broadcast facility."

Apart from noting Barry's half ownership in WGMA, the FCC letter did not discuss his role in the TV quiz situation. Barry was quizmaster on Twenty-One. It was on that show that Charles Van Doren won $129,000 and national fame. Van Doren since has acknowledged he was coached.

Barry and Enright bought WGMA in 1957 and their three-year license renewal normally would not expire until Nov. 3, 1960.

In New York, neither Barry nor Enright was available for comment.

Eisenhower Tour May Put Khrushchev On Spot

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

President Eisenhower's precedent-shattering journey to 11 nations on three continents may make Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev wish he had been less insistent upon a quick summit meeting.

So far as the Asian and Middle Eastern aspects of the journey are concerned, the President seems to have accepted Khrushchev's challenge to compete for the sympathies of weaker nations.

But in Europe, with a summit meeting still in prospect for spring, the President may hope to accomplish much by way of retightening whatever bolts in the Western front may have loosened by Khrushchev's sustained and determined peace offensive.

Eisenhower's considerable personal popularity abroad may bring him at least limited success in such an undertaking. And the President's own standing as a man of peace has been attested to unequivocally by Khrushchev himself, for his own reasons, after the Soviet leader returned home from his United States visit. So Khrushchev contributed to a dilemma for himself.

Khrushchev still apparently wants and needs a summit meeting. A measure of peace is important if he is to perform on his political promises to the consumer at home. If he must return to all-out cold war and all-out preparation for a hot one, then the castles-in-the-air he conjured up for Ivan will begin to fade.

But, if the Eisenhower tour accomplishes its aims in Europe, the President can enter a summit meeting with the authority of a revitalized alliance behind him and with the hands of Western leaders greatly strengthened.

Jobs Filled By Relatives Of 19 Solons

Disclosure Under Resolution Follows Nepotism Storm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate took the 11-year-old secrecy label from its payroll Monday and revealed that at least 19 senators have relatives holding down congressional jobs.

The Senate payroll for the period July 1-Sept. 30 was made public without comment by Senate Secretary Felton M. Johnston. He issued the 110-page printed booklet in accordance with a "tell all" Senate resolution adopted during a recent row over congressional nepotism.

Many of the relatives listed were familiar to the public as Senate staff members and employees. For example, Robert F. Kennedy, on the list as chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, is well known as the brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Bob Kennedy Paid $3,305.27

The payroll data revealed that the younger Kennedy, who has resigned from his committee post, was paid $3,305.27 during the three month period.

The fact that some other senatorial relatives held Senate posts also had been known previously. Charles A. Murray, the son of Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.), was reported on existing Senate records to be his father's administrative assistant.

However, the data disclosed that younger Murray received the three month maximum of $4,074.99 which figures out to an annual salary of $16,299.96. He was the only relative listed at the top salary.

Senate officials estimated that the complete payroll covered from 2,800 to 3,000 employees.

Johnson On List

Besides Murray and Kennedy, other senators with relatives—however distant—on the capitol payroll included Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and Sens. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.), Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.), John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.), James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), Clair Engle (D-Calif.), Andrew F. Frear Jr. (D-Del.).

Tunisia Urges France Widen Algeria Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Tunisia urged France Monday to take up political matters as well as a cease-fire in peace talks with the Algerian rebels.

Mongi Slim, delegate from Tunisia regarded as the chief spokesman here for the Algerians, said all the rebels want is a chance to discuss election guarantees and safeguards that would permit Algerians to make a truly free choice in determining their future.

Slim made the statement in a mildly worded speech to the U.N. Political Committee that praised French President Charles de Gaulle for opening the way to reconciliation and peace in Algeria. But Slim also called on France to end "dillydallying" over acceptance of five imprisoned rebel leaders as negotiators.

He was the only speaker as the U.N. opened debate on how to end the five-year-old rebellion in Algeria. The French boycotted the debate on the grounds that Algeria is an internal issue whose debate here for the fourth successive year violates the U.N. Charter. Additional speakers will be heard Tuesday.

Slim said his delegation and others—mostly from the Asian-African bloc—would introduce a resolution they hoped would contribute to a peaceful settlement. Last year a resolution favoring Algerian independence failed by one vote to win the required two-thirds majority.

Talk To Precede
Tour Departure

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower will appeal to America Thursday for cooperation at home to promote the world peace climate he hopes to create in an 11-nation tour.

The appeal, which will be televised nationwide, will immediately precede his departure on the goodwill journey.

Announcing plans for a 15-minute talk beginning at 7:15 p.m. EST, Thursday, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said the President will discuss his trip abroad and such domestic issues as the court-suspended steel strike.

Steel Dispute Unsettled

"The President will talk about the need for stronger cooperation among the several groups that make up the American economy so that the nation's progress toward peace may be insured and enhanced," Hagerty said.

There are indications that Eisenhower will again urge industry and the Steelworkers Union to settle their dispute to prevent resumption of the strike when the court injunction expires Jan. 26.

Hagerty said Eisenhower's discussion of the 22,000-mile trip will center around "the strengthening of cooperation among those countries in pursuit of their own security and progress in the attainment of world peace with justice."

Eisenhower won approval for his forthcoming adventure into personal diplomacy at an early White House breakfast meeting with congressional leaders of both parties.

Barry and Enright bought WGMA in 1957 and their three-year license renewal normally would not expire until Nov. 3, 1960.

In New York, neither Barry nor Enright was available for comment.

Students Need C Average To Park Cars At School

METHUEN, Mass. (UPI)—Students at Tenney High School will need at least a C average to park their cars in the school parking lot.

School officials said Monday the order, effective after the Christmas vacation, resulted from a faculty investigation which showed that students with cars had lower marks.

Eisenhower Tour May Put Khrushchev On Spot

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

President Eisenhower's precedent-shattering journey to 11 nations on three continents may make Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev wish he had been less insistent upon a quick summit meeting.

So far as the Asian and Middle Eastern aspects of the journey are concerned, the President seems to have accepted Khrushchev's challenge to compete for the sympathies of weaker nations.

But in Europe, with a summit meeting still in prospect for spring, the President may hope to accomplish much by way of re-lightening whatever bolts in the Western front may have been loosened by Khrushchev's sustained and determined peace offensive.

Eisenhower's considerable personal popularity abroad may bring him at least limited success in such an undertaking. And the President's own standing as a man of peace has been attested to unequivocally by Khrushchev himself, for his own reasons, after the Soviet leader returned home from his United States visit.

So Khrushchev contributed to a dilemma for himself.

Khrushchev still apparently wants and needs a summit meeting. A measure of peace is important if he is to perform on his political promises to the consumer at home. If he must return to all-out cold war and all-out preparation for a hot one, then the casing, the President may hope to achieve much by way of re-lightening whatever bolts in the Western front may have been loosened by Khrushchev's sustained and determined peace offensive.

Jobs Filled By Relatives Of 19 Solons

Disclosure Under Resolution Follows
Nepotism Storm

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate took the 11-year-old secrecy label from its payroll Monday and revealed that at least 19 senators have relatives holding down congressional jobs.

The Senate payroll for the period July 1-Sept. 30 was made public without comment by Senate Secretary Felton M. Johnston. He issued the 110-page printed booklet in accordance with a "tell all" Senate resolution adopted during a recent row over congressional nepotism.

Many of the relatives listed were familiar to the public as Senate staff members and employees. For example, Robert F. Kennedy, on the list as chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, is well known as the brother of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.).

Bob Kennedy Paid $3,305.27

The payroll data revealed that the younger Kennedy, who has resigned from his committee post, was paid $3,305.27 during the three month period.

The fact that some other senatorial relatives held Senate posts also had been known previously. Charles A. Murray, the son of Sen. James E. Murray (D-Mont.), was reported on existing Senate records to be his father's administrative assistant.

However, the data disclosed that younger Murray received the three month maximum of $4,074.99 which figures out to an annual salary of $16,299.96. He was the only relative listed at the top salary.

Senate officials estimated that the complete payroll covered from 2,800 to 3,000 employees.

Johnson On List

Besides Murray and Kennedy, other senators with relatives—however distant—on the capitol payroll included Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) and Sens. John A. Carroll (D-Colo.), Dennis Chavez (D-N.M.), John Sherman Cooper (R-Ky.), Carl T. Curtis (R-Neb.), James O. Eastland (D-Miss.), Charles McNamara (D-Calif.), and J. Allen Frear Jr. (D-Del.).

Tunisia Urges France Widen Algeria Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Tunisia urged France Monday to take up political matters as well as a cease-fire in peace talks with the Algerian rebels.

Mongi Slim, delegate from Tunisia regarded as the chief spokesman here for the Algerians, said all the rebels want is a chance to discuss election guarantees and safeguards that would permit Algerians to make a truly free choice in determining their future.

Slim made the statement in a mildly worded speech to the U.N. Political Committee that praised French President Charles de Gaulle for opening the way to reconciliation and peace in Algeria. But Slim also called on France to end "dillydallying" over acceptance of five imprisoned rebel leaders as negotiators.

He was the only speaker as the U.N. opened debate on how to end the five-year-old rebellion in Algeria. The French boycotted the debate on the grounds that Algeria is an internal issue whose debate here for the fourth successive year violates the U.N. Charter. Additional speakers will be heard Tuesday.

Slim said his delegation and others—mostly from the Asian-African bloc—would introduce a resolution they hoped would contribute to a peaceful settlement. Last year a resolution favoring Algerian independence failed by one vote to win the required two-thirds majority.

Tawes Will Name State Labor Law Study Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. J. Tawes in the light of new national Millard Tawes of Maryland told a legislation.

Maryland labor convention Monday Tawes invited the Maryland State and District of Columbia AFL-CIO at its annual convention to give him names of individuals union leaders believe would help contribute to such a study.

The governor said he believes the time has come "to conduct a comprehensive review of our existing state labor legislation." He said the proposed committee would make recommendations to the General Assembly.

Tawes, who was criticized by a speaker only a short time before he arrived at the convention, was assured by President W. F. Strong of the State-DC union that the organization would give full cooperation in unveiling inadequacy of present labor laws.

The criticism of the governor came from Oliver W. Singleton, Baltimore, a regional director of the national AFL-CIO. Singleton said Tawes was more concerned with "those who employed labor than with those who work to maintain this democracy of ours."

Singleton urged the delegates to screen out in the primaries those candidates he termed "our enemies." "We must become non-partisan and elect our friends and defeat our enemies," he said.

The delegates, meeting at a hotel, also heard a brief speech from Maryland Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert.

Sybert said the Landrum-Griffin labor bill passed this year affects labor laws at the state level. He said he believes that there should be a study of state laws to seek what he described as equitable corrections.

The governor, escorted to the rostrum by a group of state AFL-CIO vice presidents, said the voice of labor in Maryland has steadily been gaining influence.

The growth of industry in the state, he added, has been more rapid than in almost any other.

Concerning the Landrum-Griffin Act, the governor said this law gives the states new powers to move into intra-state labor controversies which the National Labor Relations Board does not wish to review. Under the old Taft-Hartley Law, he said, this area was called a "no man's land."

Beall, Butler Report Total Of 29 Employees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland's Sens. J. Glenn Beall and John Marshall Butler had a total of 29 employees on their staffs during the July 1-Sept. 30 period, Senate payroll data showed Monday.

It was the first time in more than a decade that the Senate had made the information public. The disclosure was made under terms of a resolution adopted last summer after publication of news stories concerning congressional nepotism.

Beall listed 16 employees. The highest paid was Kathryn B. Wolfe, his administrative assistant, who received $4,047 for the quarter.

Butler had a staff of 13 with Edward R. Duffy, his administrative assistant, getting the highest pay of $4,074 in the three month period.

Both Republican senators said they had no relatives on the public payroll.

Beall's other employees and their third quarter salaries: John C. Ahlers, executive secretary, $2,755; Ben Whitehurst, research assistant, $2,447; Jay N. Price, legislative assistant, $1,859; Mary E. Waldron, Personal secretary, $2,142; Olga Y. Cook, $1,803; Harriet Gilfoyle, $1,407; Mary F. Grant, $1,322; Mary R. Hardin, $1,237.

Carolyn J. Edwards, $1,237; Virginia Vance, $1,181; Harriett E. Long, $963; Susan C. Seth, $1,040; Eloise Shaffer, $768; Elizabeth L. Hall, $659; and Mary E. Rexroad, $1,272.

Butler's staff included: Ernest C. Baynard, legislative assistant, $3,048; Edith F. Zollo, executive secretary, $2,270; Mary W. Bourbon, $1,417; Patricia A. Hall, $1,463; Anthony A. Lapham, $1,746; Ethel M. Cox, $1,294; Adrienne H. Smith, $1,463; Martha L. Lockwood, $1,463; Virginia D. Howard, $1,463; Jean A. Saffran, $1,111; James T. Sutton, $924; and W. Farm Prices Continue Drop WASHINGTON (UPI) — Prices received by farmers for crops and livestock fell 2 per cent in the month ended Nov. 15, the Agriculture Department reported Monday.

The department's monthly farm report also showed that the cost of production and living supplies purchased by farmers rose one-third of 1 per cent during the month.

Farmers' returns in mid-November averaged 77 per cent of parity. A 19-year low, this compares with 79 per cent of parity in mid-October and 84 per cent in mid-November a year ago.

Parity is the price needed to put the value of commodities farmers sell on a par with the cost of things they must buy — theoretically a fair return for their products.

The report indicated that in terms of what the farmer's dollar can buy the prices of things he sells are now at the lowest level in 19 years.

Baltimore County Tax Rate Boosted 26 Cents

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — Baltimore County residents will have to pay $2.42 in taxes on every $100 of assessed property value next year, an increase of 26 cents over the current rate.

The new tax rate, set Monday by the County Council, is 12 cents lower than proposed by County Executive Christian Kahl.

At the same time, the council approved a general fund budget of $55,661,379 for 1960, a reduction of $1,458,709 from administration recommendations but 10 million dollars more than was appropriated for this year.

University hall on the Brown campus was used as a barracks by American and French troops during the American Revolution.

George The Lion Finds Home At Lancaster, Pa.

LANCASTER, Pa. (UPI) — Benedict said he always had loved animals and always wanted a lion. So when he heard about George, who was sent to the zoo after upsetting the apartment of his owner, Ted Moore, Benedict wired an offer to the zoo.

Last Friday Benedict received a telephone call from the zoo saying he could have George provided he agreed to build a proper cage and feed him. Benedict said he agreed to the conditions.

It will cost about $100 to ship the lion from Oklahoma City to Lancaster. The purchase price was believed to be $300.

Dr. Charles Selemeyer, chief health inspector for Lancaster, said there was nothing in the city's health regulations to prevent George from moving here. The regulations mention chickens, pigeons and dogs, but do not refer to lions.

Police Chief William B. Hersher said he did not care. He will inspect the cage Benedict will build for George to determine that it is safe.

"We also want to be certain the cage is properly screened so the lion cannot scratch spectators," Hersher said.

Mrs. Benedict had only one comment to make.

"I won't feed the lion," she said.

Brown Raid Pageant Proposed For Award

HARPERS FERRY, W. Va. (AP) — Officials of the Harpers Ferry Centennial Assn. have announced that the recent centennial observance of John Brown's raid has been nominated for a Freedom Foundation award.

Mrs. John Newcomer, president of the association, said the Oct. 15-18 observance of the 100th anniversary of Brown's attack on the federal arsenal here has been suggested for the foundation's "Thomas Jefferson Awards" division, for community programs.

The first prize in this division is $1,000. There are several $100 awards and numerous "George Washington" medals. Winners will be announced Feb. 22.

Mrs. Newcomer also announced that receipts from the observance are expected to total more than $1,000.

40 And 8 Refuses To Drop Negro Ban

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The 40 and 8, fun-loving and charity affiliate of the American Legion, Monday night refused to drop its ban against Negroes.

Martin B. McKneally, national commander of the Legion, immediately ordered a court test of the "whites only" clause in the 40 and 8 constitution.

New York Bus Strike Averted; Pact Extended

NEW YORK (UPI) — A two-week contract extension Monday averted a threatened strike at midnight by drivers on seven privately-owned bus lines serving two million riders daily.

Michael Quill, president of the Transport Workers Union, accepted the extension, but did not commit himself on three other points proposed by the bus lines. They offered a 7-cent-an-hour wage increase; retroactivity in a new pact to Dec. 1; and further negotiation on the contract duration.

Buses will continue to operate on the lines during the extension, said Quill. Regular negotiations will resume Tuesday.

The break in the negotiations came after a day-long series of meetings that included a session in City Hall with Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Quill earlier had rejected a proposal by the bus companies to extend the contract.

Boy May Get Hand But Not In Time For Christmas

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Health as a "donation for Mike Plough-Department officials in suburban Alexandria, Va., said Monday the gift to the family. A Miami, Fla., woman earlier requested information from the UPI bureau there about how to make a similar donation.

The 6-year-old boy is crippled from a birth defect. Ever since he started first grade last September, he has talked of little else than asking Santa Claus for a hand.

The Alexandria Health Department said it has written the Crippled Children's Bureau at Richmond for an appointment for Mike at the amputee clinic there.

The clinic is financed by federal and state funds — but even so, officials said they probably wouldn't be able to get an artificial hand in time for Christmas.

Mike's father, Irvin, is an $85-a-week television and radio repairman. He supports a family of seven and cannot afford to buy Mike the artificial hand that would cost about $200.

United Press International Monday received a $10 money order from Anna Leonardo, 113 Bond St., Providence, R.I., designated for the Plough family.

Tawes Will Name State Labor Law Study Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. J. Tawes in the light of new national legislation. Tawes invited the Maryland State and District of Columbia AFL-CIO at its annual convention to give him names of individuals union leaders believe would help contribute to such a study.

They offered a 7-cent-an-hour wage increase, retroactivity in a new pact to Dec. 1; and further negotiation on the contract duration.

Buses will continue to operate on the lines during the extension, said Quill. Regular negotiations will resume Tuesday.

The break in the negotiations came after a day-long series of meetings that included a session in City Hall with Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Quill earlier had rejected a proposal by the bus companies to extend the contract.

The 6-year-old boy is crippled from a birth defect. Ever since he started first grade last September, he has talked of little Mike than asking Santa Claus for a hand.

The Alexandria Health Department said it has written the Crippled Children's Bureau at Richmond for an appointment for Mike at the amputee clinic there.

The clinic is financed by federal and state funds — but even so, officials said they probably wouldn't be able to get an artificial hand in time for Christmas.

Mike's father, Irvin, is an $85-a-week television and radio repairman. He supports a family of seven and cannot afford to buy Mike the artificial hand that would cost about $800.

United Press International Monday received a $10 money order from Anna Leonardo 413 Bond St., Providence, R.I., designated the monthly entertainment for the Reserve.

A donation of $25 was voted to the Philadelphia Hostess House; $20 to Perry Point Hospital; $20 to Fort Howard Hospital and $20 to Newton Baker VA Center. It also was decided to provide a basket of groceries for a needy navy man.

Plans were formulated for a Christmas and birthday party for members. It is to be held at the next meeting, December 11. Each member is to bring groceries for a Christmas basket for a needy family.

It was voted to send 1,000 ice cream sticks to the TB Center, for the project and to dress dolls for the Salvation Army for Christmas.

The Christmas party of the Jean Rowland Circle will meet at 7:30 tomorrow in Melvin Methodist Church.

Wilda Marie James Is Bride Of H. E. Knisely

Mr. and Mrs. Lester James, Flintstone, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Wilda Marie James, to Harold E. Knisely, son of Mrs. Zella Berkheimer, Clairsville, Pa. The double ring ceremony was solemnized October 11 in the First Congregational Christian Church, Everett, Pa., with Rev. Paul Gettinger officiating. The church was decorated with baskets of white chrysanthemums and vases of white pom-poms were used on the altar.

Miss Edella Redinger was maid of honor; Nancy Knisely, niece of the bridegroom, flower girl; and Edward James, nephew of the bride, ring bearer. Leo D. Knisely served as his brother's best man, while Allen Moorehead, Bedford, Pa., and Alton James, Cumberland, were the ushers. Mrs. Seibert Oaks presented a program of nuptial music and played the traditional wedding marches. She also played "The Lord's Prayer," for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a ballerina length gown of white lace over taffeta, fashioned with a scalloped neckline, trimmed with sequins and pearls. She wore a shoulder length veil and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Her maid of honor wore a yellow gown and carried a bouquet of white carnations and yellow rosebuds; while the little flower girl wore pink and carried a basket of carnations and rosebuds.

Mrs. James wore a charcoal gray dress and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Berkheimer was attired in a blue print and had a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Everett High School and is employed by the United Telephone Company, Everett. The bridegroom is a graduate of Bedford High School and is employed by Knisely's Garage, Bedford.

A reception was held in the church social room following the ceremony, after which the couple left for a trip to Utah and western states. They are residing at 302 East Main Street, Everett.

Valley Road Homemakers Club will have a program by the Homemakers Chorus at the party tomorrow at 1:15 at the YMCA. Reservations for the Hairdressers Christmas party are to be made with Mrs. Alice Halterman, Sunset 4-1676.

Auxiliary To Meet

Chilcott-Cresap Chapter, 209 American Legion Auxiliary, will meet tonight at 7:30 in the home of Mrs. Edgar Hounshell, Cresap Park. Mrs. Irma Lee will preside. Following the business session a Christmas party will be held and jingles exchanged. Seventy-three people attended.

Christmas Program To Be Presented At Meeting

The Junior Woman's Civic Club board selected a family to sponsor at its meeting last week in the club rooms. Mrs. Ralph Sell, Jr., presided. Committee chairmen gave their reports and the meeting program selected.

Yule Party, Project To Be Dec. 8

Plans for a work meeting and Christmas activities were discussed at the business session of the Pleasant Valley Homemakers Club, held at the home of Mrs. Earl Manges, Pleasant Valley Road.

Mrs. Charles Smith will conduct a work meeting at her home for those interested in making a basic dress.

Thanksgiving and Christmas baskets were planned, for a needy family. Articles for the Christmas basket are to be brought to the Christmas party. Mrs. Manges and Mrs. Robert Alstetter are in charge of refreshments. Each member is to prepare something and also bring a toy to be sent to a hospital for the children. Members are to exchange jingle gifts. The party will be at the home of Mrs. Edgar Rephann, Pleasant Valley Road, December 8 at 7:30 p.m.

The meeting was opened with the recitation of the Lord's Prayer, led by Mrs. Rephann. The group recited the collect and read the hymn of the month. The history of it was given by Mrs. Alstetter. The hostess read the Scripture, and routine reports were given. A poem, "Prayer for Olde People" was read and a discussion held on "How Best To Understand The Older Person." The program on family life was led by Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Rephann and check sheets distributed. Roll call was answered with how to combat worry and develop mental health. Sewing and canned goods were displayed. Concluding the evening, refreshments were served.

Mrs. Lynn Tharp, Braddock Road, has been called to Santa Monica, Calif., by the critical illness of her sister, Mrs. Edward Mullin, former resident.

Local Youth Hurt In Auto Crash

An 18-year-old local youth was hospitalized Sunday night following a one-car accident on Potomac Street, who reportedly sustained three deep lacerations of his head. Attaches reported of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, his condition as "fair."

Trooper John Sweitzer of the Maryland State Police said the accident occurred around 11:30 p. m., five miles south of Cumberland along State Route 51.

Police said Weltman was traveling north on the highway when his vehicle crossed into the south-bound lane and rammed into guard rails on the east side of the road.

Police said considerable property damage was caused in the accident.

Nearly one-fifth of the total standing timber in the United States is found in Oregon.

WHAT IS A BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION?

It is composed of a group of people who have pooled their savings to lend on first mortgages. Each saver is a part owner in the business in proportion to the amount of his savings and receives dividends from the net profits of the business in the same proportion.

A building and loan association is not a bank. A depositor in a bank is not a part owner of the bank but is a creditor of the bank and receives interest the bank promises to pay. The two types of institutions are different and should not be confused.

This Association loans all of its funds on first mortgages on homes in this community—nothing else. You, as an individual, could do the same thing if you wish to employ all the professional and clerical help you would need. We are prepared to offer all these services to you more economically, more efficiently and more safely than a lone mortgage investor could do. We have never lost a dollar on any loan.

We have paid 4% dividends continuously for the last 20 years and have reserves of 11% of our total savings shares.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: My 16-year-old daughter is absolutely wild, crazy, insane over Pat Boone. She has every record he's ever made. His pictures are all over her wall. When he's on TV she swoons and moans until the rest of the family would like to bat her over the head to bring her to her senses.

Nora would rather stay at home and listen to Pat Boone's records than go out with a fellow she knows. What can I do about this silly kid? It's beginning to worry me. — NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: She'll get over this as she did the chicken pox and measles. In the meantime, a few words of logic may make a dent.

Granted Pat Boone is an attractive and clean-cut young man. He can even sing a little. But teen-agers who flip completely over jukebox idols waste time and energy which could be better spent.

It's O.K. to make occasional flights into fantasy but people who allow themselves to become swallowed by dreams wind up having trouble fitting into the world of reality.

DEAR ANN: This friend (I'll call her Mrs. Smythe) showed some of her paintings to a group of close friends. A certain woman went into ecstasy over one of the paintings. My friend had the painting framed at a cost of $16, and presented it to her on her birthday.

Several weeks later Mrs. Smythe went to a tea in this woman's home and was shocked to find the painting stuck in a hall-way, behind a large rubber plant. A person would have to search in order to find it.

Should she ask for the painting back now that she is sure it means nothing to these people? — T. Y.

DEAR T. Y.: The gift was presented in good faith with no strings attached. She had better forget it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter is 21. She was home for the weekend and had to leave on a 7:30 plane to return to college. Her boy friend brought her home at 1:30 and they woke me up and asked if it would be O.K. for him to stay and drive her to the airport at 6:30 a. m. I told them it would NOT be respectable for them to sit up all night alone and that I had no intention of sitting up with them.

We got into a fuss and my daughter told her boy friend to leave and wait in the car. She said she'd be out at 5 a. m. and they would go to an all-night restaurant for breakfast on the way to the airport.

In my opinion, any way you look at it, she was asking for permission to let the young man stay all night and I would not agree to it. Now she is mad at me. Your opinion, please.—I.A.Q.

DEAR I. A. Q.: When a daughter, 21, awakens her mother and asks for permission to let her boy friend visit and then drive her to the airport, it's a pretty safe bet the gal can be trusted. If she were on the "wild" side, there are other places she could have gone besides home.

Your refusal was a vote of no-confidence and she had a right to resent it. These were special circumstances and merited special consideration.

Next time, however, it would be better if he brought her home at 10 p. m. and came to get her at 5 a. m.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—No sooner had MGM got its hands on the galley proofs of Irwin Shaw's new novel, "Two Weeks Out of Town" than off went two copies—one to Clark Gable and one to Spencer Tracy. Need I add that both Clark and Spence are interested—as expected, for Sha is a dynamite writer for male roles if you remember his "Young Lions."

Come to think of it, Shaw does all right by his heroines, too, making them tres sexy, which may be the best reason that charmer Gina Lollobrigida is first choice (I'm not telling you how I know) for the girl's part.

In hoping to re-team Gable and Tracy, I imagine the powers that be are fondly remembering the enormous boxoffice grosses of their "Boom Town." Even with "Ben-Hur" making money up front—MGM is not averse to piling up more moola in new movies.

What now for Haya Harareet after "Ben-Hur" which takes her from the unknown category to the very well known. Well, I can tell you this: She was in Sol Siegel's office at MGM a few days ago, talking about "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," for her next movie.

Haya tells me that when she goes to London Dec. 16 for the "Ben-Hur" premiere, she'll fly from London to Israel for a quick visit with her family before she returns to movietown.

Just before Elizabeth Taylor went into Harkness Pavilion in New York with double pneumonia, she ok'd the script of "Butterfield 8" and the picture starts on Jan. 8, as originally planned. Charles Schnee has made the necessary revisions in the script.

Laurence Harvey is particularly eager to get "Butterfield 8" finished, because he's due in London for "The Long, the Short, and the Tall." Willis Hall's successful London play, which later comes to Broadway. Larry, who is in "The Alamo," is grateful to John Wayne who gives him a few days off so he can attend the Mexican film festival as guest of honor.

By the way, James Poe tells me he hasn't done any work on "Butterfield 8" and he is scripting William Faulkner's novel "Sanctuary," and "Requiem for a Nun."

From Bangkok where she's currently shooting "Mistress of the World" after several location stops throughout the Far East, Martha Hyer writes a newsy letter: "Enjoyed Hong Kong very much. Ran into Bill Holden and Jean Negulesco who are there preparing "World of Suzie Wong" for filming in February. Bill and Jean took me to dinner at a famous, but most exclusive little Chinese cafe where usually only Asians dine. Guess who were sitting in the next booth—those fine old non-Asians, Bob Cummings and Mary. Bob says they are in Hong Kong on business, too—but didn't volunteer what it is. So I can't pass on any scoops."

Martha won't be home for some time as the final sequences of "Mistress" will be shot in Germany—another big hop around the world.

If you hear Hugh O'Brian warbling like crazy all the songs from "Destry Rides Again" you'll know there is a reason. He replaces Andy Griffith for one week on Broadway starting Jan. 4 in "Destry Rides Again," while Andy takes a well-deserved vacation from "Destry," which continues to be a hit.

This is Mr. Wyatt Earp's first time in a Broadway play, and you can be sure the teenagers will flock to see him. Michael Kidd, choreographer, is already here rehearsing Hugh, who is like a kid over his first Christmas tree.

When Bette Davis arrives Dec. 12 she will have the best Christmas gift an actress can receive—a bonafide offer from the Best Foods Company to sponsor her TV series. This is the outgrowth of the "Wagon Train" segment she did several weeks ago which had such a high rating.

Bette is leaving her current tour in which she and Gary Merrill read Carl Sandburg's poetry, but she'll resume it after she completes 13 TV shows. She has an attractive offer on Broadway for her readings, and her friends are very happy.

Secrets of Long Life

Here are the fascinating results of a scientific survey of the 29,000 Americans who are 95 years old, or over. What did these people inherit, do or eat that has allowed them to live so long? What about cigarettes, alcohol? The answers are in December Reader's Digest. Can you apply them?

Local Youth Hurt In Auto Crash

An 18-year-old local youth was Jack R. Weltman, 18, of 104 hospitalized Sunday night following a one-car accident on the sustained three deep lacerations Oldtown Road near Works No. 7 of his head. Attaches reported of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass his condition as "fair."

Trooper John Sweitzer of the Maryland State Police said the accident occurred around 11:30 p. m., five miles south of Cumberland along State Route 51.

Police said considerable property damage was caused in the accident.

Nearly one-fifth of the total standing timber in the United States is found in Oregon.

WHAT IS A BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION?

It is composed of a group of people who have pooled their savings to lend on first mortgages. Each saver is a part owner in the business in proportion to the amount of his savings and receives dividends from the net profits of the business in the same proportion.

A building and loan association is not a bank. A depositor in a bank is not a part owner of the bank but is a creditor of the bank and receives interest the bank promises to pay. The two types of institutions are different and should not be confused.

This Association loans all of its funds on first mortgages on homes in this community—nothing else. You, as an individual, could do the same thing if you wish to employ all the professional and clerical help you would need. We are prepared to offer all these services to you more economically, more efficiently and more safely than a lone mortgage investor could do. We have never lost a dollar on any loan.

We have paid 4% dividends continuously for the last 20 years and have reserves of 11% of our total savings shares.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: My 16-year-old daughter is absolutely wild, crazy, insane over Pat Boone. She has every record he's ever made. His pictures are all over her wall. When he's on TV she swoons and moans until the rest of the family would like to bat her over the head to bring her to her senses.

Nora would rather stay at home and listen to Pat Boone's records than go out with a fellow she knows. What can I do about this silly kid? It's beginning to worry me. — NAUSEATED

DEAR NAUSEATED: She'll get over this as she did the chicken pox and measles. In the meantime, a few words of logic may make a dent.

Granted Pat Boone is an attractive and clean-cut young man. He can even sing a little. But teen-agers who flip completely over jukebox idols waste time and energy which could be better spent.

It's O.K. to make occasional flights into fantasy but people who allow themselves to become swallowed by dreams wind up having trouble fitting into the world of reality.

DEAR ANN: This friend (I'll call her Mrs. Smythe) showed some of her paintings to a group of close friends. A certain woman went into ecstasy over one of the paintings. My friend had the painting framed at a cost of $16, and presented it to her on her birthday.

Several weeks later Mrs. Smythe went to a tea in this woman's home and was shocked to find the painting stuck in a hall-way, behind a large rubber plant. A person would have to search in order to find it.

Should she ask for the painting back now that she is sure it means nothing to these people? — T. Y.

DEAR T. Y.: The gift was presented in good faith with no strings attached. She had better forget it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My daughter is 21. She was home for the weekend and had to leave on a 7:30 plane to return to college. Her boy friend brought her home at 1:30 and they woke me up and asked if it would be O.K. for him to stay and drive her to the airport at 6:30 a. m. I told them it would NOT be respectable for them to sit up all night alone and that I had no intention of sitting up with them.

We got into a fuss and my daughter told her boy friend to leave and wait in the car. She said she'd be out at 5 a. m. and they would go to an all-night restaurant for breakfast on the way to the airport.

In my opinion, any way you look at it, she was asking for permission to let the young man stay all night and I would not agree to it. Now she is mad at me. Your opinion, please.—I.A.Q.

DEAR I. A. Q.: When a daughter, 21, awakens her mother and asks for permission to let her boy friend visit and then drive her to the airport, it's a pretty safe bet the gal can be trusted. If she were on the "wild" side, there are other places she could have gone besides home.

Your refusal was a vote of no-confidence and she had a right to resent it. These were special circumstances and merited special consideration.

Next time, however, it would be better if he brought her home at 10 p. m. and came to get her at 5 a. m.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—No sooner had MGM got its hands on the galley proofs of Irwin Shaw's new novel, "Two Weeks Out of Town" than it went two copies—one to Clark Gable and one to Spencer Tracy about playing the top male roles. Need I add that both Clark and Spence are interested—as expected, for Sha is a dynamite writer for male roles if you remember his "Young Lions."

Come to think of it, Shaw does all right by his heroines, too, making them tres sexy, which may be the best reason that charmer Gina Lollobrigida is first choice (I'm not telling you how I know) for the girl's part.

In hoping to re-team Gable and Tracy, I imagine the powers that be are fondly remembering the enormous boxoffice grosses of their "Boom Town." Even with oil discovered on the back lot and "Ben-Hur" making money up front—MGM is not averse to piling up more moola in new movies.

What now for Haya Harareet after "Ben-Hur" which takes her from the unknown category to the very well known. Well, I can tell you this: She was in Sol Siegel's office at MGM a few days ago, talking about "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," for her next movie.

Haya tells me that when she goes to London Dec. 16 for the "Ben-Hur" premiere, she'll fly from London to Israel for a quick visit with her family before she returns to movietown.

Just before Elizabeth Taylor went into Harkness Pavilion in New York with double pneumonia, she ok'd the script of "Butterfield 8" and the picture starts on Jan. 8, as originally planned. Charles Schnee has made the necessary revisions in the script time as the final sequences of "Mistress" will be shot in Germany—another big hop around the world.

If you hear Hugh O'Brian warbling like crazy all the songs from "Destry Rides Again" you'll know there is a reason. He replaces Andy Griffith for one week on Broadway starting Jan. 4 in "Destry Rides Again," while Andy takes a well-deserved vacation from "Destry," which continues to be a hit.

This is Mr. Wyatt Earp's first time in a Broadway play, and you can be sure the teenagers will flock to see him. Michael Kidd, choreographer, is already here rehearsing Hugh, who is like a kid over his first Christmas tree.

When Bette Davis arrives Dec. 12 she will have the best Christmas.

From Bangkok where she's currently shooting "Mistress of the World" after several location stops throughout the Far East, Martha Hyer writes a newsy letter: "Enjoyed Hong Kong very much. Ran into Bill Holden and Jean Negulesco who are there

City Delays Action On Bill Collection, Weight Ordinances

The Mayor and Council delay measures ordinances and an-bills in South End. ed action on two issues yester-other establishing a collection The weights and measures day, one revising its weights and agency for water and sewage ordinance went to its first read.

ing but was held up a week.

The collection agency contract was held up by a vote of 3-2 on motion of Commissioner John J. Long who said it should be set, tled "once and for all" at next Monday's meeting. The contract would not go into effect until January 1. Voting to delay action were Long, Commissioner Lucile Roeder and Philmore Fleming. Favoring immediate passage were Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Commissioner G. Ray Light.

The contract would establish Cumberland Savings Bank as the collection agency for the city bills. Storer Brothers, a South End business establishment, re-minded council by letter, that it also had asked to be selected as the agency and requested con-sideration.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said he had not seen the contract several years. Illness in the naming the South End Bank as agent for the city. He said there was no question concerning the ability of the attorney to draw the contract, but there were some questions concerning the mechanics of it that he did not want "to go into" or take up council's time during yesterday's meeting. He said since it affects finances, the charter gives him as auditor, authority to speak on it.

The proposed contract would be effective for five years. It requires that the City of Cum-berland maintain a minimum balance of $20,000 in a checking account which could, in the event of a financial emergency, be temporarily reduced upon con-sent of the bank.

The weights ordinance would, in effect, remove the city from the scales business but require truckers and haulers to get weigh slips from another source. The city has maintained scales more than 35 years but they were declared unfit recently by the Department of Weights and Measures of Maryland.

Commissioner Lucile Roeder said she had suggested the ordinance not be considered yes-terday since if it was read it would indicate the city is going to approve it. Many things have come up since the plan was pub-licized last week, she said, and some of them were not known at that time.

Street Commissioner John J. Long said after the ordinance was delayed, that regardless of what the outcome is, he wanted council to know that a study has been going on in the Street De-partment to find suitable em-ployment for Guy F. Long, weighmaster. If the scales are removed, Long's job will be abolished. The commissioner pointed out that Guy Long is not a relative, but that he is seeking to find some suitable position for him. Guy Long, a former equip-ment operator in the Street De-partment, has been weighmaster several years. Illness in the past few years has resulted in the loss of both his legs.

The scales job is not a Street Department operation. All reve-nues go directly to the Finance Department.

Local PPG Plant To Be On TV

The Cumberland plant of Pitts-burgh Plate Glass Company will be shown to a national television audience today at 10 p. m. on the Garry Moore Show.

Films of the plant were taken during the past summer and will show shots of the glass forming rolls, cooler conveyor and twin grinders.

Scenes of the different plants of the company have been shown in recent weeks.

Truck Ban On Streets Urged By Long

A complaint about the condition of Blackiston Avenue as the result of use by heavy trucks and equipment, brought from Street Commissioner John J. Long the demand yesterday that im-mediate steps be taken to post resi-dential streets and ban the ve-hicles from such streets.

Mrs. Chester Brent wrote the Mayor and Council concerning the mud and dust, holes and ridges in the street which make access difficult. Long said the street had been worked on during the past summer.

Then, he said, the city has been having trouble controlling trucks. Some 20 and 30 ton vehicles are using residential streets and the people have to pay for the dam-age. In one instance, he said he had asked a trucker why he was using the street, and the trucker said he had seen no signs re-stricting the use.

Long continued that signs are going to be installed and that authority is contained in an ordinance passed some time ago by council.

"It seems to me that other cities re-route that kind of traffic," he said, although he added, that might create a prob-lem here. But, he continued, since the plan for posting streets had been started here, he asked the matter be referred to him to check into the delay.

The increase is effective De-cember 1 and payable semi-mon-thly. They also receive $4,620 each from Allegany County an-nually.

Council approved the boost by a 4-1 vote with Finance Commis-sioner Lucile Roeder dissenting. Mrs. Roeder said there was nothing personal in her action and she felt they worked hard for the money earned. But, she added, she felt there wasn't enough in-formation available on the reason for the increase.

Earlier, she had said that the increase had not been discussed. Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming said an order had been proposed last week but withdrawn because the amount was in error and the matter had been tabled then.

He recalled that City Attorney William R. Carscaden had ex-plaind that more duties are be-

Water Use High As Dams Overflow

Water consumption continues high but water is spilling over the top of both city reservoirs, the Mayor and Council was told yesterday.

Consumption averaged 13,357,000 gallons a day last week, up from last year's 11,786,000 gallons. Nearly a foot of water was running over the spillway of Lake Gordon and a foot of water was flowing over the top of Lake Koon.

Fewer Marriage Licenses Sold During Month

The marriage licenses business at Allegany County Circuit Court House last month was not quite as brisk as in November last year.

Just before the close of the Court House yesterday, 184 licenses were reported sold during November this year, 21 fewer than the 205 sold in November last year.

During 1958, some 2,676 marriage licenses were sold here. In the first 11 months this year, 2,388 marriage licenses have been issued.

The total in 1957 was 2,729; 1956, 2,751; 1955, 2,817; and 1954, 2,634.

City Asks SRC For Study On Traffic Lights

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming said yesterday he has asked the State Roads Commission to make a study of traffic lights needed along Virginia Avenue in connection with the Cumberland Thruway.

He said the SRC traffic representatives will be asked to make recommendations concerning traffic lights at the Fifth Street and Laing Avenue intersections.

Need for the traffic controls and other traffic problems in the Fifth Street-Laing Avenue area were discussed on the spot yesterday by Mr. Fleming, Mayor J. Edwin Keech and Police Chief B. F. Gaffney.

Mr. Fleming said the study included red and yellow lines on the streets.

Decisions will be made, he said, after all of the facts have been studied.

Scheduled today by the Police Department officials is a tour of the city and conference on pedestrian cross walks.

The discussion is expected to include the Greene-Washington street, Central YMCA and South Centre and Pershing street intersections.

Thefts Reported To City Police

Breaking and entering and larceny cases were reported to local police during the past few days.

George W. Williams, 807 Brookfield Avenue, said someone entered a bedroom and den at his residence, taking cash and property.

He told police that a small strong box in the bedroom was pried open and $57 taken from a small purse. The intruder also took four or five rolls of pennies, a small bank, two lighters and a billfold from the desk in the den.

Entrance was gained by breaking a glass in the kitchen door and unlocking the door. Some evidence was found in the yard and on the porch, police said. Mr. Williams said he left the residence about noon on Friday and returned about 11 p. m. to find his place ransacked.

N. F. Miller, 209 Columbia Street, said two gray fender skirts, valued at $20, were taken from his 1953 Oldsmobile after 10:30 p. m. Friday.

$1 Million Dip In Building Permits Noted

The City of Cumberland issued building permits valued at $13,632 during November to bring the 11-month total to the $1,590,062 mark.

This represents a decrease of $1,103,565 from the $2,693,627 of permits which were issued by the end of November last year.

Scattered permits issued last December brought the 1958 building permit total to $2,740,727.

November's permits included eight for new construction valued at $13,632 and three additions and improvements estimated to cost $10,300.

The new construction in November's $23,932 program included one residence estimated to cost $5,000, three garages owners estimated would cost a total of $932, two sheds valued at $700, a $4,000 garage and storage building and a storage warehouse costing $3,000.

Water Use High As Dams Overflow

Water consumption continues high but water is spilling over the top of both city reservoirs, the Mayor and Council was told yesterday.

Consumption averaged 13,357,000 gallons a day last week, up from last year's 11,786,000 gallons. Nearly a foot of water was running over the spillway of Lake Gordon and a foot of water was flowing over the top of Lake Koon.

Fewer Marriage Licenses Sold During Month

The marriage licenses business at Allegany County Circuit Court House last month was not quite as brisk as in November last year.

Just before the close of the Court House yesterday, 184 licenses were reported sold during November this year, 21 fewer than the 205 sold in November last year.

During 1958, some 2,676 marriage licenses were sold here. In the first 11 months this year, 2,388 marriage licenses have been issued.

Fine Line Between Heroes And Goats

In sport the thinnest of margins separates the heroes from the goats, and the missilemen at Cape Canaveral are finding out the hard way that this applies also to their precarious trade. If everything had gone all right the other day, an American rocket would be winging its way to an orbit around the moon. Inside would have been a scanning device to take and transmit pictures of our companion globe. If that had been accomplished, the United States would have taken a giant stride toward catching up with the Soviet and would actually have surpassed them in some respects. But the second stage of the rocket failed and there is no other like it, so it will be almost a year before the attempt can be repeated.

There is some criticism of the scientists at Cape Canaveral for putting themselves on the spot by announcing in advance what they hoped to accomplish with this shot. But the scientists and the whole National Aeronautics and Space Administration are already on the spot, no matter what they do.

They can hardly be in a more uncomfortable position for having tried and failed in public than if they had remained silent and left the impression that nothing was going on. The nation in the lead — in this case Soviet Russia — can easily afford the luxury of reticence. The pressure will be on it only when and if the United States takes the lead.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Candidates

The race for the Presidency is on but it is impossible to say whether the title will go to the swiftest or to the most suitable. And, of course, in our kind of a country the term, most suitable, is hard to define. For instance, what would suit me, as a voter, would surely not suit Samuel H. Beer, National Chairman of Americans for Democratic Action — A.D.A. — who would reject both Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator Lyndon Johnson.

Americans are a volatile people and their likes and dislikes change swiftly and often. Today, for instance, all sides complain about the apathy of the American people. By apathy is usually meant a lack of interest, a lack of excitement over public affairs.

The question is: What is there to get excited about? What noble ideal of life is presented to the American people? What conflicting issues are we to vote about in the next election? What vast difference has thus far developed between the Republicans and the Democrats?

The two principal critics of the Eisenhower foreign policy, Dean Acheson and George Kennan, are not running for President. What they say may be of tremendous national value or none at all, depending upon their influence on the Democratic candidate for President. It is to be assumed that Dean Acheson or George Kennan could be Secretary of State; so might Adlai Stevenson. We know that Dean Acheson and George Kennan represent a sharp difference from Eisenhower; we do not know that Adlai Stevenson represents any particularly important position.

Every estimate shows Senator John F. Kennedy out in front for the Democratic nomination. Kennedy, who is 42 years old, which is not too young, nevertheless represents the generation of Americans whose principles and ways of life were formed by the aftermath of World War II. He therefore comes closer to the current national facade than most candidates. For instance, the A.D.A. could accept him as Walter Reuther can; neither would accept Richard Nixon and probably not Governor Nelson Rockefeller who has the advantage of not having taken a firm stance on important issues; he is very new to the political scene.

Kennedy is a trained and hardened campaigner, as is Nixon. Rockefeller has had one experience in New York State and that came down to a knish, frankfurter and pizza pie contest rather than a political contest.

Kennedy's greatest liability is his Roman Catholicism. Yet that does not stand in his way to the degree that the same issue laid low Alfred E. Smith, a truly great statesman. The times have changed; there are more Catholics in the United States and while anti-Catholicism thrives professionally, it does not concern as many voters as it did when Alfred E. Smith ran against Herbert Hoover.

Kennedy is running as though he meant it. It is therefore not likely that he would be interested in second place. On the other hand, Senator Hubert Humphrey, who is also running hard, can have no candidacy except for second place. He has not caught the imagination of the American people. He could get the Vice Presidency to please the A.D.A. which contains the remnants of the New Dealers who were active in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations.

Usually when a candidate steps out so far in advance and so early, he is knocked off by a combination of other candidates. If this proves true in the case of Senator Kennedy, the nomination could go to Lyndon Johnson, although Adlai Stevenson is being held out as a plausible compromise.

There is no logical explanation for Stevenson's continued candidacy after two defeats, except that some believe that any Democrat can be elected in 1960. Stevenson has developed a following during the two campaigns in which he ran. The following has not been sufficient to elect him. However, as he has been an active candidate for eight years, speaking constantly, travelling the world, keeping his name before the public, he has had many advantages.

Two or three months ago it was believed in many Democratic quarters that Stevenson would have to be nominated to keep the Democratic Party from breaking up into irreconcilable factions. This assumption has been largely dissipated.

The Democratic nomination, it would seem, is still wide open.

TV Controversy May Serve Good Purpose

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What started out as an exposure of deception — mistakenly conceived by the producers of shows as a way to put on a more exciting performance — has developed now into a nationwide discussion of the merits or demerits of television itself.

There are always misguided individuals who hurt any good cause by acts of dishonesty. Hence the exposures have already alerted the television broadcasting companies and producers of shows that this kind of thing must not happen again. There really isn't any need for more law or regulation to handle that problem. Regaining the confidence of the public is not something even a new law could by itself accomplish for the television companies.

But what of television's other problems — especially the dissatisfaction with some of the shows that aren't in the quiz line? What shall be done about some of the misleading advertisements that occasionally accompany them?

Existing laws can take care of the misrepresentation of products offered for sale. That's what the Federal Trade Commission was set up to do a few decades ago. While many people do not know much about its achievements, the commission can quite effectively, by the use of "cease and desist orders, protect the buying public against fraud in advertising.

As for the kind of shows given on the air, this is really at the root of much of the dissatisfaction with television. Lots of the criticism is unfair and ill-informed. For one thing any medium with as big an audience as TV gets cannot even in a decade of time solve all its problems and, of course, any suggestion that the government should begin to "censor" television shows or tell the stations what kind of programs they should offer is contrary to the spirit and the letter of the Constitutional provision governing free speech.

To simplify the issue — the government has no more right to tell the stage manager of a television show how to work up or ignore dramatic interest than it has to send FBI agents behind the wings of a theatre to find out whether the drink that looks like wine to the audience is after all only a soft drink. What a tragedy it would be to interfere with the art of make-believe in the circus side shows!

The discussion now going on about television is healthy. It will help in the long run. For the amount of constructive criticism poured forth in the last few weeks could not possibly have been induced in many years in the normal course of events.

The latest bit of self-examination in the broadcasting business has been sparked by Sigmund Larmon, chairman of the board of Young & Rubicam, a big advertising agency in New York.

Mr. Larmon has given much of his time to public-service activities, and he sincerely hopes to help the television companies to solve the dilemma. He has suggested that a commission of outstanding citizens be appointed by all the broadcasting companies to make a study of the whole problem of programs and the proper relationship of producers and advertisers to the networks. This would be an advisory commission.

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, says the objective is all right but he fears it will give the impression that the broadcasting companies may be passing the buck to others. Robert

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SALE—Those tired old jokes about merchants running their annual fire sales, or closing out sales because their lease is up—in five years—may be on the way out.

Washington is putting into effect a new law which permits merchants in the city to conduct such sales if they are real. Merchants must now obtain a license for the sales good for only 30 days.

In Washington alone, 15 stores were immediately affected by the new law. Two applied for the 30-day license, the others changed their signs to "discount" sale or "annual clearance" sale.

The law is applicable only to the District of Columbia, although it was approved by Congress, which legislates for Washington as well as for the nation.

But some members of Congress look upon the law as a model which they hope will be adopted by the states and cities to check some sharp practices of long standing among the unscrupulous fringe of the retail trade.

STRIKE—Another nationwide strike, at least as vital as the steel strike, is looming on the horizon. The railroad owners and their unions are locked in bitter negotiations over wages and work rules. The owners are freely predicting a strike between February and July of 1960.

A railroad tie-up could well be the heavier of the one-two blow to the national economy if it should occur just when industry is trying to recover from the disastrous effects of the steel strike.

But persons familiar with the negotiations find that the owners and the unions are just as adamant in their positions as the two sides in the steel strike.

Owners are determined to make a start on ending so-called "featherbedding" whereby the unions insist on jobs for unneeded workers. Firemen on diesel locomotives, for example.

The unions reply that these men do useful work, would have to be replaced by other workers under some other name, and their unemployment would be a shock to the industry.

Ike's Determination To Keep Budget In Line Strangles Space Program

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson has left for Europe and Asia to interview the leaders of the 11 countries Eisenhower will visit and report on what they will talk to Ike about. Until he begins these interviews, his column is written by Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Despite the failure of another moon rocket, President Eisenhower has refused to loosen the purse strings that have been strangling our space program. This is the reason the National Aeronautics and Space Administration so far hasn't scheduled another moon shot all next year.

The President clearly intends to keep the national debt from hitting the moon even if it means holding down our rockets too. The National Security Council has estimated it will cost $1,500,000,000 a year to keep up with Russia in the space age. This would be the bill for the civilian space program alone, not counting military missiles and satellites.

But Ike has ruled that the most he can allow NASA next year is $750,000,000—only half of what is needed. This means the United States, already an estimated five years behind the Russians in space research, will drop even farther behind.

Instead of shooting rockets at the moon, NASA will concentrate on launching a man into space next year. The first man should be able to crawl into a rocket for a quick trip into space by early fall. NASA even has high hopes of spinning him into orbit around the earth by Christmas, 1960.

Yet reports from Russia indicate the Soviets will pull these stunts, too, ahead of the United States.

Note—Even if the last moon rocket had reached its goal, it was not equipped to duplicate the Soviet feat of photographing the moon's backside. The best equipment the United States could install was an infrared device which would have traced a dim outline of the moon's unseen side. Another space shot is scheduled later this month, but won't be aimed at any specific celestial target.

Subsidizing Cancer?

If many people heed the Public Health Service's warning to stop smoking for fear of lung cancer, the Agriculture Department will be stuck with a lot of ripe Virginia leaf on its hands. For one branch of government is underwriting the nation's tobacco crop at the same time another branch is warning against its use.

The Agriculture Department is obliged by law to guarantee the tobacco growers a profit. If the market price falls below 90 per cent of parity (55.5 cents a pound in the case of cigaret tobacco) Uncle Sam must step in with cash loans.

After all the subsidized tobacco is stored and cured, it is offered for sale at prevailing prices. The taxpayers, of course, make up the loss—which in the last fiscal year amounted to $1,800,000.

The public had just about gotten over the last cancer scare and the Agriculture Department was actually making a profit on tobacco when Surgeon General Leroy Burney let loose his latest blast. From July 1 through September 30, the taxpayers came out $176,777 to the good on subsidized tobacco. But the figures are bound to plunge in the red again as more smokers, unnerved by Dr. Burney's warning, swear off the habit.

Not that Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson is indifferent to the condition of the nation's lungs. A strict Mormon, he never touches the weed himself. But his hands are tied by legislation.

Meanwhile the best brains on Madison Avenue are preparing a new advertising campaign that the tobacco companies hope will rout the government doctors and bury their laboratory reports with pro-tobacco prose.

Sour Exit

When Secretary of Defense Neil McElroy gives up his post and goes back to selling soap, he will leave a sour taste behind.

President Eisenhower is peeved at him for running out and leaving a new man to fight off the attacks of a hostile Congress. The only person Ike could find with the experience to step into McElroy's shoes is deputy secretary Tom Gates, a Philadelphia banker, who came to the Pentagon in 1953 as Undersecretary of the Navy.

The Joint Chiefs of Staff are also annoyed with McElroy for ducking decisions. Almost every policy question they have forwarded to him lately has been brushed aside.

Among the questions that have been waiting on his desk for weeks are: (1) whether to consolidate all strategic weapons under one command; (2) how to merge the rival defense systems of the Army and Air Force; (3) whether to mount Polaris missiles on surface ships; (4) whether to send Bomarc anti-aircraft missiles to Europe.

The latest matter which the Joint Chiefs sent to McElroy to decide was the basic war plan which will determine each service's requirements. Conflicting views have been summed up in a paper, called "Joint Strategic Objectives," which has now been lying on McElroy's desk for two weeks.

Apparently he is leaving these problems and a bottle of aspirin for his successor.

Overactive Pancreas Needs Special Diet

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The amount of sugar in the blood varies from hour to hour. It is lowest shortly before eating. The level then rises while the carbohydrates in the food are being absorbed through the wall of the stomach. It falls within two or three hours as the sugar is removed by the tissues for energy or stored in the liver for future use. It is the insulin manufactured by the pancreas that makes the utilization of sugar possible.

In diabetes, the supply of insulin is curtailed and the blood sugar level remains elevated.

The excess is eliminated in the urine. On the other hand, when the pancreas is overactive and manufactures too much insulin, sugar is used rapidly and the blood lever falls precipitately. Many people have this condition (hypoglycemia) but the manifestations are so bizarre it may escape detection.

Many of us have experienced mild degrees of hypoglycemia before breakfast or between meals when the blood sugar level is lowest. We feel hungry, weak, and shaky. A cookie, candy bar, soft drink, or coffee or tea with sugar and cream bring immediate relief. The snack is just enough to raise the blood sugar level. This may explain the popularity of a coffee break, afternoon tea party, or midnight icebox raid.

But when the pancreas is overactive, the blood sugar level is likely to fall lower than normal, making the individual not only weak or shaky but dizzy, faint, depressed, foggy, and anxious. Others become so fatigued they are unable to move a muscle. Personality changes occur and weeping is common in women. A further decline in the sugar level may cause tremors, nervousness, abdominal distress, blackouts, insomnia, chest pains mimicking angina pectoris, or even convulsions.

The clew that the pancreas is at fault stems from the observation that symptoms develop only between or before meals and are relieved by food. The best treatment is a diet high in proteins and fat. Foods of this type keep the blood sugar elevated over a longer time because they do not stimulate the pancreas to secrete insulin, as starches and sugars are likely to do.

Try And Stop Me

In these days, when too many people are trying only to get by—getting as much as possible for doing as little work as possible—one casts a longing eye back to days when a worker took pride in his craftsmanship—the days when Benjamin Franklin, for example, watched a cabinetmaker taking infinite pains with the inside decorations of a drawing room table.

"Why go to all that trouble," inquired Franklin. "Nobody will know it's there."

"I'll know," replied the cabinet-maker quietly.

Fine Line Between Heroes And Goats

In sport the thinnest of margins separates the heroes from the goats, and the missilemen at Cape Canaveral are finding out the hard way that this applies also to their precarious trade.

If everything had gone all right the other day, an American rocket would be winging its way to an orbit around the moon. Inside would have been a scanning device to take and transmit pictures of our companion globe.

If that had been accomplished, the United States would have taken a giant stride toward catching up with the Soviet and would actually have surpassed them in some respects. But the second stage of the rocket failed and there is no other like it, so it will be almost a year before the attempt can be repeated.

There is some criticism of the scientists at Cape Canaveral for putting themselves on the spot by announcing in advance what they hoped to accomplish with this shot. But the scientists and the whole National Aeronautics and Space Administration are already on the spot, no matter what they do.

They can hardly be in a more uncomfortable position for having tried and failed in public than if they had remained silent and left the impression that nothing was going on.

The nation in the lead — in this case Soviet Russia — can easily afford the luxury of reticence. The pressure will be on it only when and if the United States takes the lead.

These Days

The Candidates

The race for the Presidency is on but it is impossible to say whether the title will go to the swiftest or to the most suitable. And, of course, in our kind of a country the term, most suitable, is hard to define. For instance, what would suit me, as a voter, would surely not suit Samuel H. Beer, National Chairman of Americans for Democratic Action — A.D.A. — who would reject both Vice President Richard Nixon and Senator Lyndon Johnson.

Americans are a volatile people and their likes and dislikes change swiftly and often. Today, for instance, all sides complain about the apathy of the American people. By apathy is usually meant a lack of interest, a lack of excitement over public affairs.

The question is: What is there to get excited about? What noble ideal of life is presented to the American people? What conflicting issues are we to vote about in the next election? What vast difference has thus far developed between the Republicans and the Democrats?

The two principal critics of the Eisenhower foreign policy, Dean Acheson and George Kennan, are not running for President. What they say may be of tremendous national value or none at all, depending upon their influence on the Democratic candidate for President. It is to be assumed that Dean Acheson or George Kennan could be Secretary of State; so might Adlai Stevenson. We know that Dean Acheson and George Kennan represent a sharp difference from Eisenhower; we do not know that Adlai Stevenson represents any particularly important position.

Every estimate shows Senator John F. Kennedy out in front for the Democratic nomination. Kennedy, who is 42 years old, which is not too young, nevertheless represents the generation of Americans whose principles and ways of life were formed by the aftermath of World War II. He therefore comes closer to the current national facade than most candidates. For instance, the A.D.A. could accept him as Walter Reuther can; neither would accept Richard Nixon and probably not Governor Nelson Rockefeller who has the advantage of not having taken a firm stance on important issues; he is very new to the political scene.

Kennedy is a trained and hardened campaigner, as is Nixon. Rockefeller has had one experience in New York State and that came down to a knish, frankfurter and pizza pie contest rather than a political contest.

Kennedy's greatest liability is his Roman Catholicism. Yet that does not stand in his way to the degree that the same issue laid low Alfred E. Smith, a truly great statesman. The times have changed; there are more Catholics in the United States and while anti-Catholicism thrives professionally, it does not concern as many voters as it did when Alfred E. Smith ran against Herbert Hoover.

Kennedy is running as though he meant it. It is therefore not likely that he would be interested in second place. On the other hand, Senator Hubert Humphrey, who is also running hard, can have no candidacy except for second place. He has not caught the imagination of the American people. He could get the Vice Presidency to please the A.D.A. which contains the remnants of the New Dealers who were active in the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations.

Usually when a candidate steps out so far in advance and so early, he is knocked off by a combination of other candidates. If this proves true in the case of Senator Kennedy, the nomination could go to Lyndon Johnson, although Adlai Stevenson is being held out as a plausible compromise.

There is no logical explanation for Stevenson's continued candidacy after two defeats, except that some believe that any Democrat can be elected in 1960. Stevenson has developed a following during the two campaigns in which he ran. The following has not been sufficient to elect him. However, as he has been an active candidate for eight years, speaking constantly, travelling the world, keeping his name before the public, he has had many advantages.

Two or three months ago it was believed in many Democratic quarters that Stevenson would have to be nominated to keep the Democratic Party from breaking up into irreconcilable factions. This assumption has been largely dissipated.

The Democratic nomination, it would seem, is still wide open.

Should Have Tended To His Spraying

TV Controversy May Serve Good Purpose

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — What started out as an exposure of deception — mistakenly conceived by the producers of shows as a way to put on a more exciting performance — has developed now into a nationwide discussion of the merits or demerits of television itself.

There are always misguided individuals who hurt any good cause by acts of dishonesty. Hence the exposures have already alerted the television broadcasting companies and producers of shows that this kind of thing must not happen again. There really isn't any need for more law or regulation to handle that problem. Regaining the confidence of the public is not something even a new law could by itself accomplish for the television companies.

But what of television's other problems — especially the dissatisfaction with some of the shows that aren't in the quiz line? What shall be done about some of the misleading advertisements that occasionally accompany them?

Existing laws can take care of the misrepresentation of products offered for sale. That's what the Federal Trade Commission was set up to do a few decades ago. While many people do not know much about its achievements, the commission can quite effectively, by the use of "cease and desist orders, protect the buying public against fraud in advertising.

As for the kind of shows given on the air, this is really at the root of much of the dissatisfaction with television. Lots of the criticism is unfair and ill-informed. For one thing any medium with as big an audience as TV gets cannot even in a decade of time solve all its problems and, of course, any suggestion that the government should begin to "censor" television shows or tell the stations what kind of programs they should offer is contrary to the spirit and the letter of the Constitutional provision governing free speech.

To simplify the issue — the government has no more right to tell the stage manager of a television show how to work up or ignore dramatic interest than it has to send FBI agents behind the wings of a theatre to find out whether the drink that looks like wine to the audience is after all only a soft drink. What a tragedy it would be to interfere with the art of make-believe in the circus side shows!

The discussion now going on about television is healthy. It will help in the long run. For the amount of constructive criticism poured forth in the last few weeks could not possibly have been induced in many years in the normal course of events.

The latest bit of self-examination in the broadcasting business has been sparked by Sigmund Larmon, chairman of the board of Young & Rubicam, a big advertising agency in New York.

Mr. Larmon has given much of his time to public-service activities, and he sincerely hopes to help the television companies to solve the dilemma. He has suggested that a commission of outstanding citizens be appointed by all the broadcasting companies to make a study of the whole problem of programs and the proper relationship of producers and advertisers to the networks. This would be an advisory commission.

Dr. Frank Stanton, president of the Columbia Broadcasting System, says the objective is all right but he fears it will give the impression that the broadcasting companies may be passing the buck to others. Robert

SALE—Those tired old jokes about merchants running their annual fire sales, or closing out sales because their lease is up—in five years—may be on the way out.

Washington is putting into effect a new law which permits merchants in the city to conduct such sales if they are real. Merchants must now obtain a license for the sales good for only 30 days.

In Washington alone, 15 stores were immediately affected by the new law. Two applied for the 30-day license, the others changed their signs to "discount" sale or "annual clearance" sale.

The law is applicable only to the District of Columbia, although it was approved by Congress, which legislates for Washington as well as for the nation.

But some members of Congress look upon the law as a model which they hope will be adopted by the states and cities to check some sharp practices of long standing among the unscrupulous fringe of the retail trade.

STRIKE—Another nationwide strike, at least as vital as the steel strike, is looming on the horizon. The railroad owners and their unions are locked in bitter negotiations over wages and work rules. The owners are freely predicting a strike between February and July of 1960.

A railroad tie-up could well be the heavier of the one-two blow to the national economy if it should occur just when industry is trying to recover from the disastrous effects of the steel strike.

But persons familiar with the negotiations find that the owners and the unions are just as adamant in their positions as the two sides in the steel strike.

Owners are determined to make a start on ending so-called "featherbedding" whereby the unions insist on jobs for unneeded workers. Firemen on diesel locomotives, for example.

The unions reply that these men do useful work, would have to be replaced by other workers under some other name, and their unemployment would be a shock to the industry.

Ike's Determination To Keep Budget In Line Strangles Space Program

By Jack Anderson

(Editor's Note — Drew Pearson has left for Europe and Asia to interview the leaders of the 11 countries Eisenhower will visit and report on what they will talk to Ike about. Until he begins these interviews, his column is written by Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — Despite the failure of another moon rocket, President Eisenhower has refused to loosen the purse strings that have been strangling our space program. This is the reason the National Aeronautics and Space Administration so far hasn't scheduled another moon shot all next year.

The President clearly intends to keep the national debt from hitting the moon even if it means holding down our rockets too. The National Security Council has estimated it will cost $1,500,000,000 a year to keep up with Russia in the space age. This would be the bill for the civilian space program alone, not counting military missiles and satellites.

But Ike has ruled that the most he can allow NASA next year is $750,000,000—only half of what is needed. This means the United States, already an estimated five years behind the Russians in space research, will drop even farther behind.

There was more. Here is our reply:

"Dear Mr. Butler: 'Believe it or not I read your letter to the very end. And I was very touched, too, but not in the pocketbook.

"You see I am an enrolled Republican. Have been a follower of that party since the '30s.

Steve Bilko Is Drafted By Detroit

Majors Grab 14 For $340,000

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Mike Lee, an 18-year-old left-handed pitcher who received a reported $80,000 bonus to sign with San Francisco last spring, was drafted by Cleveland Monday as the major league selected 14 minor league baseball players for $340,000.

For the first time, the annual player draft was divided into two sections. After the usual unrestricted draft of veterans, the clubs had their pick of first-year men still on minor league rosters.

Lee was the only first-year man selected. Most of the other bonus babies had been protected by moving them up to big league rosters.

Tribe Pays $15,000
After a 7-19 season in class C in Fresno, Calif., where he walked 202, the strapping 6-4 Lee was left in the minors on the Giants' Phoenix, Ariz., club of the Pacific Coast League.

Thus he was fair game for Cleveland's General Manager Frank Lane, at a $15,000 price ticket.

Washington had first draft pick as a reward for its consistent performance in finishing last in the American League. The Senators chose Don Lee, no relation to Mike.

This Lee is a right-hander who spent 1959 with Charleston, W. Va., (14-9) after three trials with Detroit. He had been involved in a minor trade with Milwaukee and was on the Braves' Louisville roster when Washington picked him.

Four clubs—Philadelphia, Kansas City, Detroit and San Francisco—each took two players, Washington, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh, Cleveland and the Chicago Cubs one each.

Except for first-year man Lee, the price tag on each was $25,000.

Tigers Get Bilko
There were many familiar names on the list. For instance, Steve Bilko, the hulking first baseman who played with St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and Los Angeles in the National League before landing at Spokane, a Dodger farm, was taken by Detroit.

The Tigers are desperate for a first baseman and are gambling on this 31-year-old player who batted .305 and hit 26 homers last year in the Pacific Coast League.

Major League Draftees

Senators—Don Lee, pitcher, Louisville, 15-9 record with Charleston of the American Association.

Phillies—Clayton Dalrymple, catcher, Sacramento, batted .226 and Rob Mahlum, second baseman, Denver, batted .300.

Athletics—Robert Johnson, third baseman, Charleston, batted .237 with Birmingham of the Southern Association, and Louis Holdener, catcher, Toronto, batted .291 for Reading of Eastern League.

Cards—Darrall Johnson, catcher, Richmond, batted .211.

Cubs—Harry Bright, infielder, Salt Lake City, batted .250 with Pittsburgh Pirates.

Reds—Ed Palumbo, right handed pitcher, St. Paul, 9-12 record.

Tigers—Steve Bilko, first baseman, Spokane, batted .305, 26 homers, 92 RBIs, and Emerit Lindbeck, outfielder, Louisville, batted .284 with Atlanta of the Southern Association.

Pirates—Rob Oldis, catcher, Denver, batted .264.

Giants—George Maranda, pitcher, Louisville, 18-8 record, and Joe Amalfitano, infielder, Toronto, batted .296.

Indians—Mike Lee, pitcher, Phoenix, 7-19 record for Fresno of California League.

Bateman Named Rutgers Coach
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—John Bateman, Penn's line coach, will replace John Stiegman as head football coach at Rutgers, the Associated Press learned Monday night. Stiegman is moving to Penn to replace Steve Sebo as head football coach.

Bateman once Lou Little's assistant at Columbia, came to the University of Pennsylvania in 1957. He was credited with developing the powerful line that enabled the 1959 Quakers to win their first Ivy League title since 1952.

Red Wing officials said they would decide later this week whether he would be in the net Saturday afternoon when Boston's Bruins visit Detroit.

Billy Cannon To Play With Los Angeles

Notre Dame's Izo Drafted By Cards

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The National Football League won the first round of the expected player war with the new American Football League Monday, drafting and tying up two top college stars.

The first two selections in the annual NFL draft meeting—Billy Cannon of Louisiana State and George Izo of Notre Dame—have agreed to play in the 40-year-old NFL.

Cannon appeared at the meeting and said he favored the NFL because "it has the better players and offers more security."

Cannon, father of three little girls, said he would sign with the Rams after LSU's game with Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl Jan. 1. Drafted last week by Houston of the AFL, Cannon said nobody from the new league had contacted him.

Los Angeles Coach Sid Gillman said Cannon represents one of the best backs in America.

The Rams won first choice in the 20-round draft—a total of 240 players will be selected by the 12 clubs—in a coin toss with the Chicago Cardinals. Each team came in to the meeting with a 2-8 record, worst in the league. NFL clubs select in order from last to first, according to the standings the day of the draft.

The Cardinals, badly in need of a quarterback, followed Los Angeles with the choice of Izo and then announced Izo had already signed a contract.

Usually the first 10 rounds are reeled off in quick time. But Monday the coaches apparently were being more cautious in their selections with competition from the AFL lurking in the background. It took almost five hours to complete five rounds.

Of the first three rounds—36 players—all but six were drafted in Minneapolis last week by the AFL.

Forty Niners Are Latest Pro Team To Draft Breedlove

Rodney Breedlove, University of Maryland guard and linebacker, has been drafted by two clubs of different professional football leagues within a week.

On Monday, November 23, the senior from Cumberland, was drafted by the Los Angeles Chargers of the newly formed American Football League.

Yesterday Breedlove was selected in the third round of the National Football League draft by the San Francisco Forty Niners.

LaSalle Takes Duckpin Match

Tops Ridgeley, 2-1, And Increases Lead

LaSalle High School's Explorers successfully defended first place in the Bi-State Interscholastic Bowling League by turning back Ridgeley High School in two out of three games yesterday on the Club Recreation alleys.

The win enabled LaSalle to increase its lead to two games over the runner-up Ridgeley team.

LaSalle topped 2,032 maples with games of 700, 661 and 671. Ridgeley had games of 602, 667 and 595 for a total of 1,864.

John Stevens paced the LaSalle pinner with 184-126-82—392 while Daryl Meese's set of 386 on games of 132, 131 and 123 was high for Ridgeley.

LaSalle and Allegany clash next Monday on the Club Recreation alleys. The standings:

Woody Woodard Resigns Coaching Post At Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Chalmers (Woody) Woodard gave up the head grid coaching post at the University of Wichita Monday, turning down a one-hour contract offer.

The 42-year-old Woodard, who came to the Missouri Valley Conference school from Southern Methodist University three years ago on a three-year contract, gave this brief note to W. H. H. (Tippy) Dye, Wichita U. director of athletics:

"After careful thought and with due regard for the welfare of the football squad, the football staff, and the football program at the University of Wichita, I feel it unwise to accept the university's offer of a one-year contract."

Woodard coached teams at Wichita have a 10-18-2 record.

Lambert Grid Trophy Goes To Syracuse

Pitt's Panthers Finish Second

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bowling Syracuse University, currently rated the nation's No. 1 team, Monday was named winner of the 1959 Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern college football championship.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's Orangemen, who have a 9-0 record and hope to close out a perfect regular season by defeating UCLA this Saturday, were the unanimous choice of the eight-man selection committee of coaches, writers, and broadcasters.

Syracuse, which has accepted a bid to meet Texas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, had topped the weekly Lambert Trophy ratings for seven consecutive weeks.

Formal presentation of the trophy will take place at a luncheon here on Sunday, Dec. 13. Syracuse previously won the Lambert Trophy in 1952 and 1956.

The eight selectors agreed unanimously on the 1-2-3-4 picks, ranking Pittsburgh second, Penn State third, and Navy fourth.

Here are the final Lambert Trophy ratings for 1959:

1. Syracuse (9-0) 10.0 points;
2. Pittsburgh (6-4) 9.04;
3. Penn State (6-2) 8.0;
4. Navy (5-4) 7.0;
5. Army (4-4) 5.9;
6. Boston College (5-4) 4.2;
7. Pennsylvania (7-1) 3.9;
8. Boston University (4-5) 3.2;
9. Holy Cross (6-4) 2.9;
10. Dartmouth (5-3) 1.1.

LaSalle Takes Duckpin Match

Tops Ridgeley, 2-1, And Increases Lead

LaSalle High School's Explorers successfully defended first place in the Bi-State Interscholastic Bowling League by turning back Ridgeley High School in two out of three games yesterday on the Club Recreation alleys.

The win enabled LaSalle to increase its lead to two games over the runner-up Ridgeley team.

LaSalle topped 2,032 maples with games of 700, 661 and 671. Ridgeley had games of 602, 667 and 595 for a total of 1,864.

John Stevens paced the LaSalle pinners with 184-126-82-392 while Daryl Meece's set of 386 on games of 132, 131 and 123 was high for Ridgeley.

LaSalle and Allegany clash next Monday on the Club Recreation alleys. The standings:

Woody Woodard Resigns Coaching Post At Wichita

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — Chalmers (Woody) Woodard gave up the head grid coaching post at the University of Wichita Monday, turning down a one-hour contract offer.

The 42-year-old Woodard, who came to the Missouri Valley Conference school from Southern Methodist University three years ago on a three-year contract, gave this brief note to W. H. (Tippy) Dye, Wichita U. director of athletics:

"After careful thought and with due regard for the welfare of the football squad, the football staff, and the football program at the University of Wichita, I feel it unwise to accept the university's offer of a one-year contract."

Woodard — coached teams at Wichita have a 10-15-2 record.

Alabama May Get Liberty Bowl Bid

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The University of Alabama moved front and center Monday as the most likely opponent for Penn State in the first Liberty Bowl football game.

The Crimson tide moved in line after Navy, as expected, announced it was turning down a bid by promoters Bud Dudley and George Kerrigan.

Pitt's Panthers Finish Second

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bowl-bound Syracuse University, currently rated the nation's No. 1 team, Monday was named winner of the 1959 Lambert Trophy, emblematic of the Eastern college football championship.

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder's Orangemen, who have a 9-0 record and hope to close out a perfect regular season by defeating UCLA this Saturday, were the unanimous choice of the eight-man selection committee of coaches, writers, and broadcasters.

Syracuse, which has accepted a bid to meet Texas in the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day, had topped the weekly Lambert Trophy ratings for seven consecutive weeks.

Formal presentation of the trophy will take place at a luncheon here on Sunday, Dec. 13. Syracuse previously won the Lambert Trophy in 1952 and 1956.

The eight selectors agreed unanimously on the 1-2-3-4 picks ranking Pittsburgh second, Penn State third, and Navy fourth.

Here are the final Lambert Trophy ratings for 1959:

1. Syracuse (9-0)	100 points
2. Pittsburgh (6-4)	90-4
3. Penn State (8-2)	80-4
4. Navy (5-4)	70-5
5. Army (4-4)	59-9
6. Boston College (5-4)	42-7
7. Pennsylvania (7-1)	39-8
8. Boston University (4-5)	32-9
9. Holy Cross (6-4)	29-10
10. Dartmouth (5-3)	11-1

Frankie Carbo Gets Two-Year Term In Prison

Judge John Mullen Sentences Hoodlum

NEW YORK (AP) — Ailing hoodlum Frankie Carbo was sent to prison for two years Monday for his prize ring manipulations as the underworld's czar of professional boxing. It was his first behind-bars sentence in more than 30 years.

The state labelled Carbo a symbol of boxing's degeneration from a sport to a racket. But Defense Atty. Abraham Brodsky protested.

"The so-called sport of boxing should be abolished in this state. It serves no useful purpose. If boxing is a racket today, it has always been a racket and will always be one."

Carbo, 53, relic of a gory gangland background, pleaded guilty a month ago to unlicensed management of prize fighters and unlicensed arranging of bouts—including the state said, nationally televised fights from Madison Square Garden. Carbo's okay was needed before certain fights could even be held in the Garden.

He was depicted as wielding undercover control of a tight stable of boxers, including Lightweight Champion Joe Brown and such ex-champions as Jimmy Carter, Virgil Atkins, Johnny Saxton, Kid Gavilan and Carmine Basilio.

Dates for Maryland Half Milers Will Be Set Friday

Bowie Opens 1960 Racing February 12

Will Take 40 Days; 5-Year Pact Sought For 3 Major Tracks

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission agreed Monday a five-year agreement among the state's three major tracks should be followed and as a result dates for 1960 will be approximately the same as this year.

Bowie will start racing Feb. 12, taking all of its 40 days between spring and fall.

While it acceded to the agreement among the three tracks, Commission Chairman Bruce Livi advised them that when the pact expires after 1961 "we're going to ask all to run for 40 consecutive days."

Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel signed the agreement on disposition of dates in 1957 and Laurel insisted it be followed to the word.

The commission has wanted Bowie to start Feb. 17, but it backed down with Livi claiming it had not been aware of the agreement.

The commission, increased from three to five members this year and with Livi coming in as new chairman, also had proposed that this year's experiment of nine daily races instead of eight be modified.

He said the commission proposed nine races only on Saturdays and holidays. The tracks objected and the commission surrendered.

Other Dates Set Friday

Livi said the commission will take up the dates for the five half-mile tracks Friday. Last Friday, he had proposed that Bel Air and Cumberland sell out, with their 24 days being run at either Laurel or Pimlico in August.

The 1960 dates for the mile tracks will be:

Bowie — Feb. 12-March 30 (40 days); Laurel — March 29-May 3 (29 days) and Nov. 1-12 (11 days); Pimlico — May 6-May 21 (12 days) and Nov. 14-Dec. 15 (28 days).

In order to accommodate everyone, the commission approved a play whereby there will be a lapse of two days between the Laurel and Pimlico meetings with no racing and in addition Pimlico will be closed on two Mondays or Tuesdays during its season.

Laurel also will be closed on Good Friday, although the commission will consider its request to have races that day.

The commission started the discussion on dates by proposing the Feb. 17 beginning at Bowie. However, John D. Schapiro, Laurel president, announced the track's firm determination to abide by a Feb. 12 opening provided in the agreement.

"If the commission wants to change it, we'd like your consideration so Laurel can run 40 consecutive days in the fall," Schapiro said.

Bowie, through Jack Loomis, assistant to the president, disclaimed any interest in the starting date as long as the track ran the first 40 days of the year.

Pimlico, through General Manager Lou Pondfield, wanted no part of any more than 12 days in the spring just so the Preakness fell on the third Saturday in May.

So they all agreed to abide by the five-year agreement.

It became evident during the discussion, however, that Laurel and Pimlico may be at odds over fall racing dates soon as the agreement expires.

Frank Northcutt Rides Five Pimlico Winners

Apprentice Rider Increases Total For Year To 254

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Frank Northcutt, 17-year-old apprentice jockey from Covington, Ky., rode five winners and was second in photo finishes of two other races at Pimlico today.

His performance was the best at Pimlico since Nick Shuk rode five winners in December three years ago.

Northcutt now has 254 winners, most of the year for an apprentice and the highest ever for a beginner since Bill Hartack was aboard 323 in 1953.

Northcutt rode his first winner last Dec. 22 at Charles Town, W. Va., and will again ride there the end of next month. He is a protégé of George Stirling, owner and trainer, who once handled Howard Grant when he first came to the races and became one of the country's best.

Northcutt missed his sixth winner at Pimlico by only a nose in the featured $3,500 Frederick Purse. That would have tied him for the top daily performance of the year in Maryland, six winners by Grant at Bowie on March 19.

Northcutt was aboard the favored Shield Bearer in the featured mile and sixteenth grass race. But he was caught by Cleveland Skinner's Madok who paid $44.20, $13.40 and $8.20.

Northcutt won the second, fourth, fifth, sixth and eighth races and lost another close finish in the seventh as well as the featured ninth.

His winners and prices were son of Erin ($5), L'Arcobaleno ($18), Clockfast ($4.40), Admiral Hogan ($3.60), and El Lucera ($10.40).

Whitley Wins At Aqueduct

31,545 Persons See Getaway Day Card

AQUEDUCT, L. I. N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—W. Arnold Hanger's Whitley came charging between horses in the stretch to win the 54th running of the $28,300 Queens County Handicap as the 214-day New York racing season ended at Aqueduct Race Track today.

The 4-year-old son of Better Self-Light Lady, ridden by Eric Guerin, stepped the mile in the moderate time of 1:36 2/5 in winning the mile event by a length and a half from Clement Stable's Rick City, the 8-5 favorite. A nose behind was Ethel D. Jacobs' Promised Land, who finished a length ahead of Howell E. Jackson's Tick Tock, who held the lead for most of the race.

Whitley, third choice in the wagering with the big getaway day crowd of 31,545, returned the across the board mutuels of $9.60, $4.40 and $3.50. Rick City was $3.00 and $2.70 and Promised Land was $4.70 to show.

Whitley earned a net purse of $18,095 for Hanger, Miami Beach, Fla. construction magnate. Today's crowd swelled the yearly attendance to 5,025,793, the first time it has gone over the 5,000,000 mark in the history of racing in New York state.

Dates for Maryland and Half Milers Will Be Set Friday

Bowie Opens 1960 Racing February 12

Will Take 40 Days;
5-Year Pact Sought
For 3 Major Tracks

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Racing Commission agreed Monday a five-year agreement among the state's three major tracks should be followed and as a result dates for 1960 will be approximately the same as this year.

Bowie will start racing Feb. 12, taking all of its 40 days between spring and fall.

While it acceded to the agreement among the three tracks, Commission Chairman Bruce L. Livi advised them that when the pact expires after 1961 "we're going to ask all to run for 40 consecutive days."

Bowie, Pimlico and Laurel signed the agreement on disposition of dates in 1957 and Laurel insisted it be followed to the word.

The commission has wanted Bowie to start Feb. 17, but it backed down with Livi claiming it had not been aware of the agreement.

The commission, increased from three to five members this year and with Livi coming in as new chairman, also had proposed that this year's experiment of nine daily races instead of eight be modified.

He said the commission proposed nine races only on Saturdays and holidays. The tracks objected and the commission surrendered.

Other Dates Set Friday

Livi said the commission will take up the dates for the five-half mile tracks Friday. Last Friday, he had proposed that Bel Air and Cumberland sell out with their 24 days being run at either Laurel or Pimlico in August.

The 1960 dates for the mile tracks will be:

Bowie — Feb. 12-March 30 (40 days); Laurel — March 30-May 3 (29 days) and Nov. 1-12 (11 days); Pimlico — May 6-May 21 (12 days) and Nov. 14-Dec. 15 (28 days).

In order to accommodate everyone, the commission approved a play whereby there will be a lapse of two days between the Laurel and Pimlico meetings with no racing and in addition Pimlico will be closed on two Mondays or Tuesdays during its session.

Want Feb 12 Opening

Laurel also will be closed on Good Friday, although the commission will consider its request to have races that day.

The commission started the discussion on dates by proposing the Feb. 17 beginning at Bowie. However, John D. Schapiro, Laurel president, announced the track's firm determination to abide by a Feb. 12 opening provided in the agreement.

"If the commission wants to change it, we'd like your consideration so Laurel can run 40 consecutive days in the fall," Schapiro said.

Bowie, through Jack Loomie, assistant to the president, disclaimed any interest in the starting date as long as the track ran the first 40 days of the year.

Pimlico, through General Manager Lou Pondfield, wanted no part of any more than 12 days in the spring just to the Preakness on the third Saturday in May.

So they all agreed to abide by the five-year agreement.

It became evident during the discussion, however, that Laurel and Pimlico may be at odds over fall racing dates soon as the agreement expires.

Pimlico desires spring dates only because of the Preakness while Laurel's main attraction, the International, is run on Veterans' Day, Nov. 11.

W.Va. Economy Is Moving To Higher Level

State C. Of C. Lists Business Activity

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's economy is continuing at a higher level than a year ago, the State Chamber of Commerce reported Monday.

In its monthly report of business activity, the chamber said 12 of 20 segments used to measure finance and industrial activity showed increases for last month over October 1958.

It noted that 15 of the 20 segments also showed gains in the first 10 months of the year over the corresponding period a year ago.

"A strong finish in the final two months of the year may wipe out all small deficits," the chamber report added. It said that it was too soon for gains resulting from the call-back to work of striking steel workers and furloughed workers in other fields to be reflected in current statistics.

The largest October gain was a plus 8.5 per cent in the electric power production. Gasoline tax collections followed showing an 8.4 per cent increase. Other increases included weekly earnings of manufacturing employees 6.2 per cent; weekly earnings of coal miners 5.3 per cent; manufactured products 4.9 per cent; farm income 4.2 per cent; bank deposits 3.6 per cent; salaries and wages 1.7 per cent; gross sales tax collections 1.5 per cent; ordinary life insurance sales 1.3 per cent; consumers sales tax collections 1.2 per cent and retail sales 3 per cent.

Heading the 10-month gains was a 15 per cent increase in weekly wages of coal miners, followed by a 13.4 per cent hike in collections of state gasoline taxes, the chamber said.

Other increases included building permits 11 per cent; post-office receipts 10.4 per cent; average weekly wages of manufacturing workers 8.3 per cent; dollar volume of manufacturing production 7.4 per cent; gross sales tax receipts 7.2 per cent; bank debits 5.8 per cent; electrical energy production 4.3 per cent; salaries and wages of state workers 2.9 per cent; retail sales 2.1 per cent; cash farm income 1.6 per cent; consumer sales tax collections 1.5 per cent; natural gas production 7 per cent and lumber production 5 per cent.

The chamber said the five segments (and percentage) showing a decline for the 10-months were railroad carloadings 2.8 per cent; petroleum production 1.3 per cent; coal production 1.3 per cent; average employment of non-agricultural workers 1.1 per cent and sale of ordinary life insurance policies, .1 per cent.

Award Of $800 Granted Couple In Hardy Court

MOOREFIELD—James E. and Virginia F. Bond were awarded $800 damages in a suit docketed against the Nationwide Insurance Company during the November term of Hardy County Circuit Court.

The sum was awarded for damages resulting from an explosion which occurred in a furnace when they were absent from their home.

James E. Ansel was attorney for the plaintiffs, and John Hamilton represented the insurance firm.

During the same term of court, the question of whether the Potomac Light and Power Company had the right to maintain utility poles on the property Mary L. and Lewis Lake Wardensville, was considered.

The jury decided that the power company did not have the right to maintain the poles on the property of the plaintiffs.

Lewis S. Moorman, Moorefield, and Lewis Lake, Baltimore, represented the plaintiffs, and Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg, and Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, represented the power company.

In these cases, motions were made to set aside the verdict, and the cases will be argued before the court at an early date.

Judge H. G. Muntzing, of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, presided.

Crossbreeds Top Garrett Dairy Herd Production

OAKLAND—Roman L. Yoder, supervisor of Dairy Herd Improvement Association No. 1 reports the top herd in his association for the month of October was Simon Tice who has 29 Crossbreed cows that produced an average of 1004 pounds of milk and 49.6 pounds of fat.

Second high herd was Alvin H. Yoder with 37 registered Guernseys that produced 964 pounds of milk and 44.2 pounds of fat. Clark Yoder's herd of 26 grade Holsteins was third with 1121 pounds of fat and 41.4 pounds of fat.

Fourth high herd was that of Robert Buckel who has 10 grade Holsteins producing 1125 pounds of milk and 41.2 pounds of fat. Willard Maust's herd of 33 registered Holsteins was fifth with 1147 pounds of milk and 40.3 pounds of fat.

Winter Lifts Icy Grip On West Virginia

Chains Are Needed On Some Roadways

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The sun forced a relaxation Monday of winter's icy grip on West Virginia, much to the relief of harried motorists.

But roads were still slick and treacherous in some areas of the state and chains were advised on mountain highways. The first major snowfall of the season left a blanket ranging from three to 18 inches over the state.

The largest amount of snow was in the northeastern area.

The roads were in such bad shape that more than 250 automobiles were reported stalled Sunday night along U. S. 50 between Clarksburg and the Maryland border.

And one time early Monday, up to 200 cars were stalled on a hill between Clarksburg and Bridgeport as workers tried to get to their jobs.

Numerous accidents occurred as a result of the slick roads and at least one death resulted. A Boone County man died when his car went off a road Sunday. Many injuries were caused by car wrecks in spite of generally careful driving.

The sun melted some of the snow but didn't raise temperatures very much. Readings inched above freezing in most areas in the afternoon but were expected to plummet into the low 20s during the night.

The outlook for Tuesday indicated more of the snow and ice may melt away. Temperatures in the high 40s and low 50s were predicted for the state.

But the letup is expected to be only temporary. The Weather Bureau said another wintry front is headed for West Virginia, with some new snow.

As in the case of the week end snow, the new cold front is expected to be preceded by rain. The new frigid period probably will last through the week end, observers said.

W.Va. Economy Is Moving To Higher Level

State C. Of C. Lists Business Activity

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—West Virginia's economy is continuing at a higher level than a year ago, the State Chamber of Commerce reported Monday.

In its monthly report of business activity, the chamber said 12 of 20 segments used to measure finance and industrial activity showed increases for last month over October 1958.

It noted that 15 of the 20 segments also showed gains in the first 10 months of the year over the corresponding period a year ago.

"A strong finish in the final two months of the year may wipe out all small deficits," the chamber report added. It said that it was too soon for gains resulting from the call-back to work of striking steel workers and furloughed workers in other fields to be reflected in current statistics.

The largest October gain was a plus 8.5 per cent in the electric power production. Gasoline tax collections followed showing an 8.4 per cent increase. Other increases included weekly earnings of manufacturing employees 6.2 per cent, weekly earnings of coal miners 5.3 per cent, manufactured products 4.9 per cent, farm income 4.2 per cent, bank deposits 3.6 per cent, salaries and wages 1.7 per cent; gross sales tax collections 1.5 per cent; ordinary life insurance sales 1.3 per cent; consumers sales tax collections 1.2 per cent and retail sales .3 per cent.

Heading the 10 - month gains was a 15 per cent increase in weekly wages of coal miners, followed by a 13.4 per cent hike in collections of state gasoline taxes, the chamber said.

Other increases included building permits 11 per cent; post-office receipts 10.4 per cent; average weekly wages of manufacturing workers 8.3 per cent; dollar volume of manufacturing production 7.4 per cent; gross sales tax receipts 7.2 per cent; bank deposits 5.8 per cent; electrical energy production 4.3 per cent; salaries and wages of state workers 2.9 per cent; retail sales 2.1 per cent; cash farm income 1.6 per cent; consumer sales tax collections 1.5 per cent; natural gas production .7 per cent and lumber production .5 per cent.

The chamber said the five segments (and percentage) showing a decline for the 10-months were railroad carloadings 2.8 per cent; petroleum production 1.3 per cent; coal production 1.3 per cent; average employment of non-agricultural workers 1.1 per cent and sale of ordinary life insurance policies .1 per cent.

The outlook for Tuesday indicated more of the snow and ice may melt away. Temperatures in the high 40s and low 50s were predicted for the state.

But the letup is expected to be only temporary. The Weather Bureau said another wintry period is headed for West Virginia, with some new snow.

As in the case of the week end snow, the new cold front is expected to be preceded by rain. The new frigid period probably will last through the week end, observers said.

Award Of $800 Granted Couple In Hardy Court

MOOREFIELD—James E. and Virginia F. Bond were awarded $800 damages in a suit docketed against the Nationwide Insurance Company during the November term of Hardy County Circuit Court.

The sum was awarded for damages resulting from an explosion which occurred in a furnace when they were absent from their home.

James E. Ansel was attorney for the plaintiffs, and John Hamilton represented the insurance firm.

During the same term of court, the question of whether the Potomac Light and Power Company had the right to maintain utility poles on the property Mary L. and Lewis Lake Wardensville, was considered.

The jury decided that the power company did not have the right to maintain the poles on the property of the plaintiffs.

Lewis S. Mooman, Moorefield, and Lewis Lake, Baltimore, represented the plaintiffs, and Clarence E. Martin, Martinsburg, and Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, represented the power company.

In these cases, motions were made to set aside the verdict, and the cases will be argued before the court at an early date.

Judge H. G. Muntzing, of the 22nd Judicial Circuit, presided.

Winter Lifts Icy Grip On West Virginia

Chains Are Needed On Some Roadways

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The sun forced a relaxation Monday of winter's icy grip on West Virginia, much to the relief of harried motorists.

But roads were still slick and treacherous in some areas of the state and chains were advised on mountain highways. The first major snowfall of the season left a blanket ranging from three to 18 inches over the state.

The largest amount of snow was in the northeastern area.

The roads were in such a bad shape that more than 250 automobiles were reported stalled Sunday night along U. S. 50 between Clarksburg and the Maryland border.

And one time early Monday, up to 200 cars were stalled on a hill between Clarksburg and Bridgeport as workers tried to get to their jobs.

Numerous accidents occurred as a result of the slick roads and at least one death resulted. A Boone County man died when his car went off a road Sunday. Many injuries were caused by car wrecks in spite of generally careful driving.

The sun melted some of the snow but didn't raise temperatures very much. Readings inched above freezing in most areas in the afternoon but were expected to plummet into the low 20s during the night.

The outlook for Tuesday indicated more of the snow and ice may melt away. Temperatures in the high 40s and low 50s were predicted for the state.

But the letup is expected to be only temporary. The Weather Bureau said another wintry period is headed for West Virginia, with some new snow.

As in the case of the week end snow, the new cold front is expected to be preceded by rain. The new frigid period probably will last through the week end, observers said.

CHRYSLER
58 CROWN IMPERIAL
2-DR. HARDTOP
We have in stock another Potomac Motor Special. We sold the car originally and can show you the work orders of everything that has been done to it. It formerly belonged to a local doctor.
It has a light blue finish with a white top. The interior is spotless and the tires are white sidewall captive air, the best tires available. It has power steering, power brakes, power windows, automatic door locks, tinted glass, touch tune radio with power antenna and rear seat speaker, 6 way power seats, heater, defroster, signal and backup lights, plus all the small accessories to make this the top car of Chrysler Corporation. It has low mileage and will be trouble free. You cannot find a car like it in town. So stop in to see or drive this wonderful buy

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers On New Traffic Rules

Groom — and glamorize — your wardrobe now!

Time To Shine—In Style!

In this month's fashion forecast, parties are predicted. So look ahead. All that glitters is not just gold.

At every holiday party, shine in fashion's favorite . . . rich and sparkling fabrics and accessories. You'll love the luxury look you'll wear in elegant velvet, in shimmering silks and satins, in regal brocade, faille, taffeta and ribbed weaves like ottoman.

Beaded material and metallic cloth, especially lame, is more important than ever. And flowing chiffons and lace add their romantic delicacy to the definitely opulent flair in the air.

Time spent now in a complete and careful checkup of your holiday wardrobe will save you precious hours later this month . . . when you must be ready to dress at the drop of an invitation!

When you know what you have, when you know what you will need, shop . . . while the shopping's still good. And . . . shop TO SHINE.

If a new dress is on your list, consider the fabrics I've described. They'll lift your spirit as well as your appearance. Or think of them in accessories—in a draped turban, a wide collar, a blouse, scarf or belt.

Or tie on a brilliant bib of exotic jewelry . . . to make those basic suits and dresses gleam. These fabulous bibs of baubles, bangles and beads range from chokers to extravagantly long multiple ropes. In tone and type, they can be quietly classic or colorfully Oriental . . . to match your mood, your costume, the hour or occasion. There are bracelets, pins and earrings to complete the sets. But the bibs will be the focal point.

So, make a glittering early-gift of jewelry to yourself . . . and think of it for your gift list. It will candify incandescence . . . it will make your heart light, too!

Industry Advances

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (UPI)—Automobile tires which need no air, simple rocket engines without expensive valves or tanks and lighter radiation shielding can be expected in the future as result of rubber and plastic industry, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told Monday.

Leora E. Straka, research librarian for the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., described the recent industry advances in a paper presented at the opening session of the society's week-long meeting of nearly 3,000 engineers from all parts of the world.

Council Hears Views

Residents of Laing Avenue, Fifth Street and other South End residents expressed their views before the Mayor and Council yesterday on certain traffic restrictions which have been placed in effect as a result of construction of the "Industrial Boulevard" section of the Cumberland Thruway project.

One faction appearing at yesterday's session opposed the present regulations which prohibit parking on the left side of all or portions of Fifth, Laing and Thomas streets. This group recommended instead that parking be allowed on both sides or that the restrictions be moved from the left side to the right side.

A second group favored restrictions on the left side and wanted parking to remain on the right side.

It evolves from a commitment, made during the previous administration, with the State Roads Commission and federal Bureau of Public Roads, that certain regulations would be followed if cash aid were forthcoming for the project.

Last week, council ordered these regulations placed into effect immediately. These included making Fifth Street one-way northbound from Thomas Street to the city limits; Laing Avenue one-way southbound from Thomas Street to the city limits; and Thomas Street one-way southbound from Fifth to Laing Avenue.

Residents of Fifth Street and Laing Avenue claim that the regulations now in effect eliminate 75 per cent of parking space. A petition signed by residents of the two streets was submitted by P. M. Johnson, 207 Laing Avenue. It asked that pending a study, parking be left as it was, on both sides; that all available parking space be made available with hardship to no one; and that the SRC be petitioned to leave traffic control to officials of the city.

Those protesting the parking restrictions also made these points: Restricting parking to one side will help no one; that what is best for all residents of the two streets should be considered; and it was felt insufficient study had been made of the situation.

Attorney William L. Wilson, this city, appeared before council and said he represented "several residents" of the South End who favored parking on the right side of Laing and Fifth and prohibiting parking on the left side. He said the group felt the state and federal government had some reason for asking that parking be allowed only on the right side.

A survey introduced favoring the right side parking was later

identified with Quentin M. Rice, 19 Laing Avenue, who operates a business there.

The South Cumberland Business Men's Association in a letter said it favored the right side parking and also asked that Fourth Street be made one-way east; and that traffic lights be installed at Fifth and Virginia Avenue and Laing and Virginia Avenue.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming told Carl Am-tower, who appeared on behalf of the association to thank council for consideration of its letter, that the traffic lights will be installed. He said the city is waiting on state recommendations and estimates of cost.

Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, suggested that Fifth Street remain two-way until the time when Grand Avenue is cut through to Laing Avenue. This plan, he recalled, was talked of at one time, but the city said nothing definite had been decided.

Both those for and against the present regulations were told that the city's "hands are tied" as far as changing them are concerned. The revision must be made by the State Roads Commission and the Bureau of Public Roads. However, the city will submit petitions submitted asking for revision.

Others heard yesterday in opposition to the present regulations were Jack Murphy, 217 Fifth Street; Kenneth Moore, 222 Fifth Street; Margaret Chaney, 36 Laing Avenue; Willard Rice, 13 Laing Avenue; Mrs. Arthur Bittner, 26 Laing Avenue; LaVerne Wharton, 106 Laing Avenue; and Clarence D. Umstot, 106 Fifth Street. The last two submitted letters.

Watches Waistline

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Eisenhower's watchfulness of his waistline may be hard sometimes on people who breakfast with him, judging by the reaction of House Speaker Sam Rayburn who likes the big Texas ranch-style meal in the morning.

The President invited Rayburn and other congressional leaders to breakfast Monday morning. After the affair, the speaker was waiting on the White House steps and an aide to the President told him, "We're hunting for your chauffeur." "Maybe he had more to eat than we did," Rayburn said.

win two tricks in the suit was that West had led from a holding which included king and queen. East covered with the king and declarer won with the ace and proceeded to drive out the ace of diamonds.

West took the trick at once and led the four of clubs. His partner was marked with the ten by virtue of the fact that declarer had played the jack at trick one. Had declarer held the ace, ten, and a small club it would have been foolhardy to put up the jack, for a low play from dummy would assure him of two tricks in the suit. East's nine held the trick and he cashed the ten of clubs.

The spade shift was obvious but East must be careful in his selection of the card to send back. If declarer has the queen and the nine he cannot be prevented from winning a trick in the suit for West's king can be forced on the play of a low card. But if declarer has only the queen, proper play by East will pick up the entire suit for the defenders. East therefore returned the jack of spades. South covered. West won with the king, cashed his club and on the return of the nine of spades East cashed the three more tricks and sent the contract to a two trick set. Plus declarer properly played the jack 200 by East and West was top from dummy. The only hope to score.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers On New Traffic Rules

Time To Shine—In Style!
In this month's fashion forecast, parties are predicted. So look ahead. All that glitters is not just gold.

At every holiday party, shine in fashion's favorite . . . rich and sparkling fabrics and accessories. You'll love the luxury look you'll wear in elegant velvet, in shimmering silks and satins, in regal brocade, faille, taffeta and ribbed weaves like ottoman.

Beaded material and metallic cloth, especially lame, is more important than ever. And flowing chiffons and lace add their romantic delicacy to the definitely opulent flair in the air.

Time spent now in a complete and careful checkup of your holiday wardrobe will save you precious hours later this month . . . when you must be ready to dress at the drop of an invitation!

When you know what you have, when you know what you will need, shop . . . while the shopping's still good. And . . . shop TO SHINE.

If a new dress is on your list, consider the fabrics I've described. They'll lift your spirit as well as your appearance. Or think of them in accessories—in a draped turban, a wide collar, a blouse, scarf or belt.

Or tie on a brilliant bib of exotic jewelry . . . to make those basic suits and dresses gleam. These fabulous bibs of baubles, bangles and beads range from chokers to extravagantly long multiple ropes. In tone and type, they can be quietly classic or colorfully Oriental . . . to match your mood, your costume, the hour or occasion. There are bracelets, pins and earrings to complete the sets. But the bibs will be the focal point.

So, make a glittering early gift of jewelry to yourself . . . and think of it for your gift list. Be candidly incandescent . . . it will make your heart light, too!

Council Hears Views

Residents of Laing Avenue, Fifth Street and other South End residents expressed their views before the Mayor and Council yesterday on certain traffic restrictions which have been placed in effect as a result of construction of the "Industrial Boulevard" section of the Cumberland Thruway project.

One faction appearing at yesterday's session opposed the present regulations which prohibit parking on the left side of all or portions of Fifth, Laing and Thomas streets. This group recommended instead that parking be allowed on both sides or that the restrictions be moved from the left side to the right side.

The question evolved into one of the lengthiest which this Mayor and Council has had since taking office in July 1958.

It evolves from a commitment, made during the previous administration, with the State Roads Commission and federal Bureau of Public Roads, that certain regulations would be followed if cash aid were forthcoming for the project.

Last week, council ordered these regulations placed into effect immediately. These included making Fifth Street one-way northbound from Thomas Street to the city limits; Laing Avenue one-way southbound from Thomas Street to the city limits; and Thomas Street one-way southbound from Fifth to Laing Avenue.

It also said parking is prohibited on the left side of the street in the direction traffic is authorized.

Residents of Fifth Street and Laing Avenue claim that the regulations now in effect eliminate 75 per cent of parking space. A petition signed by residents of the two streets was submitted by C. W. Johnson, 207 Laing Avenue. It asked that pending a study, parking be left as it was, on both sides; that all available parking space be made available with hardship to no one; and that the SRC be petitioned to leave traffic control to officials of the city.

Those protesting the parking restrictions also made these points: Restricting parking to one side will help no one; that what is best for all residents of the two streets should be considered; and it was felt insufficient study had been made of the situation.

Attorney William L. Wilson, this city, appeared before council and said he represented "several residents" of the South End who favored parking on the right side of Laing and Fifth and prohibiting parking on the left side. He said the group felt the state and federal government had some reason for asking that parking be allowed only on the right side.

identified with Quentin M. Rice, 19 Laing Avenue, who operates a business there.

The South Cumberland Business Men's Association in a letter said it favored the right side parking and also asked that Fourth Street be made one-way east; and that traffic lights be installed at Fifth and Virginia Avenue and Laing and Virginia Avenue.

Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming told Carl Antower, who appeared on behalf of the association to thank council for consideration of its letter, that the traffic lights will be installed. He said the city is waiting on state recommendations and estimates of cost.

Fay Thompson, 206 Elder Street, suggested that Fifth Street remain two-way until the time when Grand Avenue is cut through to Laing Avenue. This plan, he recalled, was talked of at one time, but the city said nothing definite had been decided.

Both those for and against the present regulations were told that the city's "hands are tied" as far as changing them are concerned. The revision must be made by the State Roads Commission and the Bureau of Public Roads. However, the city will submit petitions submitted asking for revision.

Others heard yesterday in opposition to the present regulations were Jack Murphy, 217 Fifth Street; Kenneth Moore, 222 Fifth Street; Margaret Chaney, 36 Laing Avenue; Willard Rice, 13 Laing Avenue; Mrs. Arthur Bittner, 26 Laing Avenue; LaVerne Wharton, 106 Laing Avenue; and Clarence D. Umstot, 106 Fifth Street. The last two submitted letters.

Watches Waistline
WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Eisenhower's watchfulness of his waistline may be hard sometimes on people who breakfast with him, judging by the reaction of House Speaker Sam Rayburn who likes the big Texas ranch-style meal in the morning. The President invited Rayburn to breakfast Monday morning. After the affair, the speaker was waiting on the White House steps and an aide to the President told him, "we're hunting for your chauffeur." "Maybe he had more to eat than we did," Rayburn said.

Industry Advances
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (

Stock Market Closes Out November On Higher Note

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market wound up the month of November on a high note, with industrial prices at their best level since Aug. 31, rails on the upswing, and with volume for the year to date crossing that for all of 1958 to set a new record since 1930.

With the day's turnover of 3,670,000 shares volume for the year rose to 748,052,086 shares, topping the 747,053,306 total for all of 1958.

Gains running to 3 points or more among the chemicals, aircrafts, electronics and metals helped lift the industrial average more than 6 points on the day, but it was the increased interest in recently neglected oil shares and rails that provided the real high spots of the day.

Oils showed improvement ranging to nearly 3 points in Texaco, 2 or more in Gulf and Wilcox. Oil was big news, too, for one of the rails, Northern Pacific, which announced an oil discovery on land which it holds in the Williston Basin area of North Dakota, moved up 1 1/2 points.

Among the rails included in the Dow-Jones Average, Norfolk & Western gained 2, Delaware & Hudson 1 1/2, Illinois Central, Baltimore & Ohio, Kansas City Southern and Rock Island nearly a point each.

B&O Railroad Resumes Work On Huge Yards

$3 Million Will Be Spent

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has resumed work on the construction of its huge marshalling yards here, Foster F. Schilt, Cumberland division engineer, said last night.

The current project, he said, will involve the completion of the five-mile long westbound yards and the company estimates it will cost $3,000,000 to complete this section which runs from near North Branch to Virginia Lane in South End.

The yard work was started in 1957, and portions were undertaken from time to time. Work on the westbound yard was halted January 31, 1958.

Upon completion of the westbound receiving and classification facilities, the eastbound yard which runs from the B&O depot to Virginia Lane, will be started.

So far, in the westbound yards, 40 per cent of the track work has been completed, the 100-foot long arch bridge over the Everts Creek has been constructed.

The division engineer estimated from 85 to 90 maintenance and engineering department employees will be needed to handle the track laying.

The westbound yard, including the receiving and classification sections, are expected to be finished by January 1, 1961.

County Bus Drivers Hear Safety Lecture

Some 54 school bus drivers attended the first of a series of safety lectures and meetings to be held by the Allegany County School Bus Contractors Association.

W. F. Sumner, Baltimore field safety engineer, conducted the lecture last night at West Side School auditorium, illustrating his talk with charts and films.

William V. Collins, president of the association, said Mr. Sumner stressed many vital safety measures and pointed out that the human element is responsible for 95 per cent of all accidents with road conditions and faulty equipment following in that order.

Another meeting will be held this morning at 10:30 for the remainder of the approximately 100 school bus drivers in the county who were unable to attend last night's session.

Several weeks ago, questionnaires were sent to each driver concerning safety recommendations for respective routes. These were screened by a committee of the contractors headed by Mr. Collins and question and answer periods are being held on these suggestions.

These meetings are another step in an all-out safety campaign being held by the bus contractors group.

Recommendations by the association later will be discussed with school officials.

Mr. Collins said the school was made available for the meetings through Allegany County superintendent of schools Ralph R. Webster.

Kiwanis To Hear Police Officer

City Police Officer Warren Brehm will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Officer Brehm will explain to the local service club the efforts the police have made to keep boys interested in a worthwhile hobby through a rifle club.

The board of directors of the club will meet today at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Columbia St. PTA Favors Fluoridation

The Columbia Street PTA gave a majority vote in favor of fluoridation of the city's water supply at its recent meeting.

This vote was taken after the PTA heard arguments in favor of fluoridation by Mrs. Betty Vogel, county public health nurse; Dr. John J. Robinson Jr., local dentist, and Mrs. Leland B. Ransom, wife of a local pediatrician.

Mrs. Marshall Sowers, PTA president, said that a Father-Son Night will be held sometime in January.

Meeting Cancelled

The luncheon meeting of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club, scheduled for Thursday, has been cancelled.

Westvaco Sales Set New Record For 7th Year

Improved Earnings Noted For 1959

Improved earnings and record sales for fiscal year 1959, ended October 31, were reported by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, one of the nation's leading producers of paper and paper products, in preliminary figures released yesterday.

David L. Luke, president, said the company's dollar volume of sales reached a new high record for the seventh successive year, advancing to $233 million from $208 million in 1958.

Net income from operations increased from $9,575,000 in 1958 to $11,777,000 in 1959, a gain of 23 per cent. After preferred dividends, these earnings were equal to $2.21 per share of common stock, as compared with $1.78 in 1958.

In addition to earnings from operations, the company realized a net extraordinary gain of $11,775,000, equal to an additional $2.29 per share on the company's sale last June of its majority stock interest in the Hinde and Dauch Paper Company of Canada, Ltd., of St. Lawrence Corporation, Ltd., of Montreal.

Production of paper, paperboard and market pulp reached an all-time high of about 975,000 tons, surpassing by 15 per cent the previous high of 850,000 tons established in 1958. The company's converting plants achieved new levels of production, manufacturing 333,000 tons of corrugated boxes, folding cartons, multi-wall bags and grocery bags.

The company's chemical operations produced nearly 58,000 tons, a new record, and a new building board plant, started a year ago, operated at near-capacity levels.

Corn Support Rule Changed

The Department of Agriculture has announced that price support eligibility requirements for the 1959 corn crop have been changed to increase the maximum permitted moisture content by one half of one per cent.

William L. Dudley, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the increase is the approximate effect of the change in the basic method of determining the moisture content of corn under the revised U. S. grain standards.

For ear corn to be eligible under farm-storage loans, moisture content cannot exceed 21 per cent through February 1960, or 19.5 per cent during March 1960. For shelled corn under farm-storage loans and for corn in approved warehouse storage, maximum permitted moisture content is changed from 13.50 to 14 per cent.

Further information or corn loans may be secured from county ASC offices.

19 Amcelle Employees Presented Gold Watches

Some 19 employees of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company were presented gold watches recently by W. E. Crooks, plant manager, in recognition of their completion of 25 years of service.

Those who were honored include Mrs. Lillia G. Ayers, Wiley Ford; Mrs. Pearl W. Devore, Corriganville; Clyde R. Flick, Cresaptown; Harold J. Holsinger, RFD 3, Frostburg; James R. Wilbert Paul To Head Water Study Committee

Wilbert R. Paul of Mt. Savage yesterday was named chairman of a Water Study Committee of Allegany County during a meeting in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, who was appointed secretary of the newly-organized committee.

Officials of the county, state and federal government met to discuss water problems which face the county both from an agricultural and industrial standpoint.

A similar meeting to further discuss the problems has been set for Monday, December 14 at 1 p. m. in Mr. Steger's office.

The county committee is to have a report on its findings to the state committee by the first of the year.

The irrigation of farms in the county and the amount of water supply available is a major problem being discussed by the committee.

Others who attended included Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service; Charles S. Harvey, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; D. T. Puffinberger, SCS; James Twigg, president of the Farm Bureau, and William H. Johnson, district forester.

Also R. C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Cumberland; County Commissioner John J. Rowan; Stanley Alexander, Western Maryland wildlife field superintendent; Ben Evans, Lonaconing Water Company; Earl Creek, of the Piney Plains Grange, and Arthur A. Vickers, engineer of the U. S. Geological Survey office here.

Ridgeley Water Boost Bid Goes To PSC Jan. 15

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Public Service Commission has set a Jan. 15 hearing on a petition for a 25 per cent surcharge the town of Ridgeley, Mineral County, wants to put into effect as of Jan. 1 on the total quarterly water bill of each customer.

The town wants the rate increase to compensate for a boost in the price of water it purchases from the Cumberland, Md. system.

The higher costs to the municipally operated Ridgeley system are expected to run about $3,300 a year.

Council Transacts Routine Business

The Mayor and Council yesterday transacted several items of routine business.

Checks for city workers for the second period of November were authorized to be issued today.

The Department of Streets and Public Improvements was authorized to ask bids for 484 feet of pipe to be used by sewer maintenance crews.

George E. Davis, city collector, reported that collections totaled $804,010 during October. The sum included $750,404.13 in taxes and interest on taxes.

Some 19 employees of the Amcelle plant of Celanese Fibers Company were presented gold watches recently by W. E. Crooks, plant manager, in recognition of their completion of 25 years of service.

Those who were honored include Mrs. Lillia G. Ayers, Wiley Ford; Mrs. Pearl W. Devore, Corriganville; Clyde R. Flick, Cresaptown; Harold J. Holsinger, RFD 3, Frostburg; James R. Accident Man Held In Forgery

Will Be Tried Next Monday

A 39-year-old Accident man will be returned here next week from the House of Correction to face a charge of forgery in Allegany County Circuit Court.

William Baxter Bailey, who is currently serving a two-year term for forgery, was indicted here by the October grand jury for cashing a bad check for $85 at a used car lot.

The State's Attorney's office received a letter from Bailey recently requesting an immediate hearing on the charge here. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris set the hearing for next Monday and appointed Attorney Jack I. Mullen to represent Bailey.

Bailey was tried in Oakland August 28 and was found guilty of four counts of forgery. He was given two-year terms on each count, but Judge Neil C. Fraley ruled the sentences may run concurrently.

State's Attorney James S. Getty obtained a writ of habeas corpus through a court order signed by Judge Harris, and officials of the House of Correction have been notified to return the prisoner to the Court House for the hearing next week.

Jury Awards $330 Verdict

A petit jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday reached a $330 verdict in favor of the plaintiff in a damage suit removed from Garrett County and reached a verdict favoring the defendant in a cross claim resulting from the same accident.

Frank Spataro, of Eckhart, plaintiff in the original suit, was awarded $330 by the jury, which deliberated for about an hour and a half. Spataro sought $500 damages.

Donald R. Jenkins and Roy B. Jenkins, of Star Route, Frostburg, defendants in the damage suit, were represented by W. Earle Cobey. In the cross claim $1,000 was sought by Roy B. Jenkins for property damages.

The damage suit and cross claim stemmed from a two-car accident February 28, 1958, on the Finzel Road. Spataro claimed he was traveling along the highway and commenced to pass a car driven by Donald R. Jenkins, who was operating the car with his father's permission.

As Spataro started to pass, the Jenkins car turned left to a side road and the driver failed to give the oncoming vehicle a signal that he was turning. The two cars collided.

In the cross claim, Jenkins said Spataro was traveling too fast at the time of the accident. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial and the foreman of the jury was Norman F. Geatz Sr.

Police Cruisers Will Be Marked

Cumberland's new police cruisers will be easy to identify.

Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the front doors of the new cruiser cars will be painted white and be marked "POLICE" in large letters.

Two of the cruisers are back from the paint shop and are in service. The third will go to the shop today.

Commissioner Fleming said he has been told that new uniforms purchased for the Police Department will be here in about a week.

No Criminal Charges Seen In Fatality

Mrs. Spano Was Struck By Truck

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said yesterday no criminal charges will be placed in the accident in which Mrs. Mary Spano, 49, of Keyser, was fatally injured November 19 on Greene Street.

Mrs. Spano was struck by a truck operated by Jack Charles Trexler, 21, of 511 City View Terrace, as she and her companion, Mrs. Carmelia Jeffries, 33, of Piedmont, started to cross Greene Street near the intersection of Washington Street.

Mrs. Spano was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital but died of a fractured skull shortly after being admitted.

Mrs. Jeffries also was struck by the vehicle and sustained a fractured arm and ribs and injuries to her right leg. She was released from Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday.

The truck operated by Trexler was headed south on Greene Street when it struck the two women.

Sgt. Baker said he questioned Mrs. Jeffries yesterday and two eye witnesses just after the accident, and determined there was no criminal negligence on the part of the truck driver.

Trexler also was questioned the day after the fatal accident by Sgt. Baker.

TB Seal Sales Reach $5,988 For Two Weeks

The Allegany-Garrett County Tuberculosis Association has collected $5,988.80 during the first two weeks of its annual Christmas Seal Drive.

Returns are running slightly behind figures for the same period last year when $6,219.90 was collected during the first two weeks.

During the second week of the drive $2,101.60 was donated by residents of Allegany County and $247.50 was contributed by Garrett countians.

Meeting Planned On Fertilizers

A Western Maryland conference for fertilizer and lime dealers and salesmen will be held at the Baltimore Livestock auction on U. S. Route 40 at West Friendship, some 20 miles west of Baltimore, from 9:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Other meetings arranged by Dr. James R. Miller, extension soils specialist of the University of Maryland, are being held at Cambridge on the Eastern Shore today and at LaPlata in Southern Maryland Thursday.

At these meetings extension and research specialists will present information on types of fertilizers, methods of application and the latest recommendations for field and horticultural crops.

All persons interested in the sale and use of fertilizer and lime are urged to attend one of the meetings. This includes dealers and salesmen, chemical company representatives, county extension personnel, Soil Conservation Service, vocational agricultural teachers and other interested farm leaders.

Co-Op Plans Meeting

About 24 women will attend a regional meeting of farm home advisory committees of Southern States Cooperative Friday at the Algonquin Hotel to outline plans for the coming year.

Miss Mattie Kessler, director of women's activities for Southern States, will be in charge. Committees from Cumberland, Lonaconing, Romney and Keyser will attend.

Blood Quota Surpassed In Tri-Towns

96 Pints Given To Red Cross

Residents of the Tri-Towns area yesterday afternoon gave 96 pints of blood, 11 pints more than the quota, when the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit from Johnstown, Pa., visited the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion in Westport.

The visit was sponsored by the Westport-Luke Chapter and the Piedmont Chapter of the Red Cross. This is the second time that the quota has been surpassed when the bloodmobile unit visited that area. The last time 130 pints of blood were given.

Those persons who joined the two-gallon club yesterday are Carl Whisner, Bloomington; Mrs. Anna B. Wilt, Westport; Augustine Diaz, Luke; Fred Imhoff, Piedmont, and John Taylor, Westport.

Those who joined the one-gallon club include Noel Obenshain, Garrett County; Cecil Kenner, Midland; Mrs. Roberta Green, Piedmont, and Ernest Hitt, Westport.

Nineteen persons gave for the first time yesterday. Physicians on duty were Dr. William Lesh, Dr. Robert W. Bess Jr. and Dr. Mildred Sheesley.

Mrs. Paul Cueva of Luke was chairman of the blood recruitment committee and was assisted by Mrs. Carleton Bell of Piedmont.

In February the bloodmobile unit will visit in Piedmont.

County Issues Five Permits For Dwellings

Permits for five homes which will be constructed at a total cost of about $35,700 were issued by the Allegany County Assessing Department.

W. A. McGraw, of B Avenue Potomac Park, indicated he plans to build a brick dwelling at a cost of about $12,000. The 28 by 48 feet home will have a concrete block foundation, asphalt shingle roof and a cellar.

A Cresaptown resident, Paul D. Weaver, was issued a permit to build a 29 by 44 feet brick veneer dwelling at a cost of about $7,200. The home will have a concrete block foundation, asphalt shingle roof and a cellar.

Malcolm Bray, RD 3, Keyser, plans to construct a $6,000 frame dwelling along the McMullen Highway. The 26 by 40 feet home will have a concrete block foundation, shingle roof and a cellar.

Robert Lynch of RD 2, Flintstone, was granted a permit to build a frame dwelling at a cost of $6,000. The 24 by 40 feet structure will have five rooms and a bath. The foundation will be of composition material.

Olen L. Durr, of RD 5, city, was issued a permit to construct a five-room home with bath at a cost of $4,500. He said the foundation and walls will be of concrete block and the home will have a cellar.

Cub Scout Training Course Set Tonight

The second in a series of three training sessions for Cub Scout leaders of Nemaquin Trail District will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Instructors for tonight's session will be Dr. Thomas Baucom, training chairman; William Stewart, Cubmaster of Pack 30, Frostburg, and Charles Newman, field representative for Nemaquin District.

A film entitled "What Cub Scouting Is" will be shown and Mr. Stewart, who also is an art instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College, will present an exhibit on how to make Christmas ornaments.

RC Bloodmobile Visits Here Today

The Bloodmobile Unit of the Red Cross at Johnstown, Pa., will visit the home of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today from noon until 6 p. m.

Mrs. Jane Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross, said last night that blood is urgently needed and residents are asked to give blood during the afternoon.

Hercules Official Gives Support To 4-H Clubs, FFA

A leading officer of the Hercules Powder Company has endorsed the work of 4-H clubs and Future Farmers of America.

Paul Mayfield, vice president of Hercules Powder Company, told delegates to the recent 31st annual meeting at the Entomological Society of America, Eastern Branch, at Atlantic City, N. J., that American youths lack themselves, their parents, schools "and indeed their nation" in being "satisfied with mediocre performance."

Emphasizing that "he was not making a blanket condemnation of all American young people,"

CURTIS WILLIAMS

Quality Control Section Plans Dinner Meeting

Customer Complaint Will Be Discussed

"Outgoing Control of Quality and Customer Complaints" will be discussed by Curtis Williams, Evendale, Ohio, at a meeting of the Cumberland Section, American Society for Quality Control, here Thursday.

He will speak during a program which will begin at 8 p. m. following a 6:30 p. m. dinner at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Mr. Williams has been in the inspection field for 30 years and has been employed in the Quality Control Department of the General Electric Company since 1951.

He attended the General Motors Technological Institute in Flint, Mich., and Northwestern University in Chicago and has a mechanical engineering background.

Mr. Williams has published two articles on quality control, one in "Aircraft and Missiles" magazine and the other in "Mill and Factory." He has also given numerous talks on various phases of quality control.

County Taxes' Interest Rate Becomes Higher

Residents of Allegany County who have not paid their 1959 state or county real estate and personal property taxes are reminded that beginning today the interest on county taxes becomes two per cent and one and a half per cent on state taxes.

William B. Orndorff, county tax collector, said yesterday that delinquent tax memos have been mailed to residents of District 1 to 24 reminding them to make their payments as soon as possible.

A member of the tax office will mail memos to the residents of District 25 through 30 as soon as possible. A survey of delinquent taxpayers was made on November 2 and the office immediately began sending out reminders.

Meanwhile some of the delinquent taxpayers have paid their taxes, according to Mr. Orndorff, who said that quite a few residents have paid their taxes with the receipt of their Christmas Club checks. Others, he said, pay their taxes from bonuses given by companies.

Mr. Orndorff is reminding the delinquent taxpayers that if ownership of property has changed, the name and address of the proper party to whom the tax bill should be sent, should be forwarded to the tax office.

Fourth Street Made One Way Eastbound Route

Fourth Street became a one-way street eastbound yesterday afternoon.

The change was announced by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming, who said signs reversing movement of traffic on the street were changed immediately.

He said the Police Department will give people in the area time enough to become familiar with the change before offenders will be prosecuted.

Meeting Place Changed

The Western Maryland Bridge Association will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p. m. at the grill room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel until further notice, officials of the group said last night. The bridge players had been meeting at the Women's Civic Club.

Weather Turns Crisp, Clear In Tri-State

Temperatures Below Normal For Month

The weather remained crisp and clear throughout the Tri-State area yesterday in the wake of the weekend snowfall. Highways which had been icy and hazardous were reported bare although the ground is still white in some sections.

Western Maryland's winterland, Garrett County, had an accumulation of four-and-one-half inches of snow over the weekend but roads were clear yesterday and the cutting, icy winds had blown away much of the white covering as the grip of winter lifted somewhat.

R. E. Weber, Oakland weather observer, reported a high of 28 degrees yesterday with the mercury dipping to a low of 16 early in the morning. No additional snow fell but the ground still is covered with about two inches of snow.

The highways and secondary roads in the county are much better, with State Roads Commission officials and state police reporting most of them clear of drifts and slush. The barometer is rising with an indication of better weather today.

This was considerably warmer than the low of 13 registered on November 18.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, noted, however, that the average temperature for the month, 40.9 degrees was somewhat lower than the normal average of 43.1 for November. There was two-tenths of an inch of snow Sunday to bring the total precipitation for the month to 2.63 inches, slightly higher than the norm of 2.18. Most of this precipitation fell within the last few days of the month, Mr. Golden pointed out.

Elsewhere the weather followed the same pattern. West Virginia State Police at Romney reported all roads clear with temperatures hovering in the 40s at nightfall. No more snow was reported.

Pennsylvania, which had a serious traffic tieup on the turnpike lasting until late Sunday night, reported everything normal yesterday. The mercury was in the 30s and highways were in good condition. No serious accidents were reported despite the huge traffic jams on the toll road Sunday.

State Roads Commission trucks worked routinely in Western Maryland yesterday with no new crews out last night.

Larger Court Of Appeals Is Proposed

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Legislative Council will be asked Wednesday to approve legislation to increase the number of judges on the Court of Appeals from five to seven.

The plan is aimed at lightening the load on the high court and is subject to approval by the voters. Sen. Edward O. Weant (D-Carroll), chairman of the committee that drafted the measure, said he hoped the proposal could be placed on next November's ballot.

The bill also would increase the appellate circuits from four to six, with two judges coming from Baltimore. The counties within each circuit also would be shuffled from their present lineup.

The measure is among several to be considered by the Legislative council, in-between session study group of the General Assembly, at its two day meeting here.

The council will consider such subjects as the Welfare Department's program for aid to dependent children, compulsory school attendance, dancing school regulations, nursing homes and changes in the unemployment insurance law.

The council also will vote on controversial proposals providing pay increases for certain groups of teachers and state employees. Both object to the plans which would deny the across-the-board pay hikes sought by the two professions.

Club To Meet Today

The Bedford Road Optimist Club will hold its regular meeting this evening at the Bedford Road Fire Hall. A meeting of the board of governors will be held following the regular meeting.

B&O Railroad Resumes Work On Huge Yards

$3 Million Will Be Spent

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has resumed work on the construction of its huge marshalling yards here. Foster F. Schilt, Cumberland division engineer, said last night.

The current project, he said, will involve the completion of the five-mile long westbound yards and the company estimates it will cost $3,000,000 to complete this section which runs from near North Branch to Virginia Lane in South End.

The yard work was started in 1957, and portions were undertaken from time to time. Work on the westbound yard was halted January 31, 1958.

Upon completion of the westbound receiving and classification facilities, the eastbound yard which runs from the B&O depot to Virginia Lane, will be started.

So far, in the westbound yards, 40 per cent of the track work has been completed, the 100-foot long arch bridge over the Everts Creek has been constructed.

The division engineer estimated from 85 to 90 maintenance and engineering department employees will be needed to handle the track laying.

The westbound yard, including the receiving and classification sections, are expected to be finished by January 1, 1961.

County Bus Drivers Hear Safety Lecture

Some 54 school bus drivers attended the first of a series of safety lectures and meetings to be held by the Allegany County School Bus Contractors Association.

W. F. Sumner, Baltimore field safety engineer, conducted the lecture last night at West Side School auditorium, illustrating his talk with charts and films.

William V. Collins, president of the association, said Mr. Sumner stressed many vital safety measures and pointed out that the human element is responsible for 95 per cent of all accidents with road conditions and faulty equipment following in that order.

Another meeting will be held this morning at 10:30 for the remainder of the approximately 100 school bus drivers in the county who were unable to attend last night's session.

Several weeks ago, questionnaires were sent to each driver concerning safety recommendations for respective routes. These were screened by a committee of the contractors headed by Mr. Collins and question and answer periods are being held on these suggestions.

These meetings are another step in an all-out safety campaign being held by the bus contractors group.

Recommendations by the association later will be discussed with school officials.

Mr. Collins said the school was made available for the meetings through Allegany County superintendent of schools Ralph R. Webster.

Kiwanis To Hear Police Officer

City Police Officer Warren Brehm will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at 12:15 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Officer Brehm will explain to the local service club the efforts the police have made to keep boys interested in a worthwhile hobby through a rifle club.

The board of directors of the club will meet today at 6:30 p. m. at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Columbia St. PTA Favors Fluoridation

The Columbia Street PTA gave a majority vote in favor of fluoridation of the city's water supply at its recent meeting.

This vote was taken after the PTA heard arguments in favor of fluoridation by Mrs. Betty Vogel, county public health nurse; Dr. John J. Robinson Jr., local dentist, and Mrs. Leland B. Ransom, wife of a local pediatrician.

Mrs. Marshall Sowers, PTA president, said that a Father-Son Night will be held sometime in January.

Meeting Cancelled

The luncheon meeting of the Community Service Group of the Woman's Civic Club, scheduled for Thursday, has been cancelled.

Improved Earnings Noted For 1959

Improved earnings and record sales for fiscal year 1959, ended October 31, were reported by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, one of the nation's leading producers of paper and paper products, in preliminary figures released yesterday.

David L. Luke, president, said the company's dollar volume of sales reached a new high record for the seventh successive year, advancing to $233 million from $208 million in 1958.

Net income from operations increased from $9,575,000 in 1958 to $11,777,000 in 1959, a gain of 23 per cent. After preferred dividends, these earnings were equal to $2.21 per share of common stock, as compared with $1.78 in 1958.

In addition to earnings from operations, the company realized a net extraordinary gain of $11,775,000, equal to an additional $2.29 per share on the company's sale last June of its majority stock interest in the Hinde and Daugh Paper Company of Canada, Ltd., to St. Lawrence Corporation, Ltd., of Montreal.

Production of paper, paperboard and market pulp reached an all-time high of about 975,000 tons, surpassing by 15 per cent the previous high of 850,000 tons established in 1958. The company's converting plants achieved new levels of production, manufacturing 333,000 tons of corrugated boxes, folding cartons, multi-wall bags and grocery bags.

The company's chemical operations produced nearly 58,000 tons, a new record, and a new building board plant, started a year ago, operated at near-capacity levels.

Corn Support Rule Changed

The Department of Agriculture has announced that price support eligibility requirements for the 1959 corn crop have been changed to increase the maximum permitted moisture content by one half of one per cent.

William L. Dudley, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the increase is the approximate effect of the change in the basic method of determining the moisture content of corn under the revised U. S. grain standards.

For ear corn to be eligible under farm-storage loans, moisture content cannot exceed 21 per cent through February 1960, or 19.5 per cent during March 1960. For shelled corn under farm-storage loans and for corn in approved warehouse storage, maximum permitted moisture content is changed from 13.50 to 14 per cent.

Further information on corn loans may be secured from county ASC offices.

Wilbert Paul To Head Water Study Committee

Wilbert R. Paul of Mt. Savage yesterday was named chairman of a Water Study Committee of Allegany County during a meeting in the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent, who was appointed secretary of the newly-organized committee.

Officials of the county, state and federal government met to discuss water problems which face the county both from an agricultural and industrial standpoint.

A similar meeting to further discuss the problems has been set for Monday, December 14 at 1 p. m. in Mr. Steger's office.

The county committee is to have a report on its findings to the state committee by the first of the year.

The irrigation of farms in the county and the amount of water supply available is a major problem being discussed by the committee.

Others who attended included Martin M. Gordon, work unit conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service; Charles S. Harvey, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee; D. T. Puffinberger, SCS; James Twigg, president of the Farm Bureau, and William H. Johnson, district forester.

Also R. C. Petersen, manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Cumberland; County Commissioner John J. Rowan; Stanley Alexander, Western Maryland wildlife field superintendent; Ben Evans, Lonaconing Water Company; Earl Creek, of the Piney Plains Grange, and Arthur A. Vickers, engineer of the U. S. Geological Survey office here.

Ridgeley Water Boost Bid Goes To PSC Jan. 15

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The Public Service Commission has set a Jan. 15 hearing on a petition for a 25 per cent surcharge the town of Ridgeley, Mineral County, wants to put into effect as of Jan. 1 on the total quarterly water bill of each customer.

The town wants the rate increase to compensate for a boost in the price of water it purchases from the Cumberland, Md. system.

The higher costs to the municipally operated Ridgeley system are expected to run about $3,300 a year.

Council Transacts Routine Business

The Mayor and Council yesterday transacted several items of routine business.

Checks for city workers for the second period of November were authorized to be issued today.

The Department of Streets and Public Improvements was authorized to ask bids for 484 feet of pipe to be used by sewer maintenance crews.

George E. Davis, city collector, reported that collections totaled $804,010 during October. The sum included $750,404.13 in taxes and interest on taxes.

Police Cruisers Will Be Marked

Cumberland's new police cruisers will be easy to identify. Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming said the front doors of the new cruiser cars will be painted white and be marked "POLICE" in large letters.

Two of the cruisers are back from the paint shop and are in service. The third will go to the shop today.

Commissioner Fleming said he has been told that new uniforms purchased for the Police Department will be here in about a week.

Will Be Tried Next Monday

A 39-year-old Accident man will be returned here next week from the House of Correction to face a charge of forgery in Allegany County Circuit Court.

William Baxter Bailey, who is currently serving a two-year term for forgery, was indicted here by the October grand jury for cashing a bad check for $85 at a used car lot.

The State's Attorney's office received a letter from Bailey recently requesting an immediate hearing on the charge here. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris set the hearing for next Monday and appointed Attorney Jack I. Mullen to represent Bailey.

Bailey was tried in Oakland August 28 and was found guilty of four counts of forgery. He was given two-year terms on each count, but Judge Neil C. Fraley ruled the sentences may run concurrently.

State's Attorney James S. Getty obtained a writ of habeas corpus through a court order signed by Judge Harris, and officials of the House of Correction have been notified to return the prisoner to the Court House for the hearing next week.

Jury Awards $330 Verdict

A petit jury in Allegany County Circuit Court yesterday reached a $330 verdict in favor of the plaintiff in a damage suit removed from Garrett County and reached a verdict favoring the defendant in a cross claim resulting from the same accident.

Frank Spataro, of Eckhart, plaintiff in the original suit, was awarded $330 by the jury, which deliberated for about an hour and a half. Spataro sought $500 damages.

Donald R. Jenkins and Roy B. Jenkins, of Star Route, Frostburg, defendants in the damage suit, were represented by W. Earle Coby. In the cross claim $1,000 was sought by Roy B. Jenkins for property damages.

The damage suit and cross claim stemmed from a two-car accident February 28, 1958, on the Finzel Road. Spataro claimed he was traveling along the highway and commenced to pass a car driven by Donald R. Jenkins, who was operating the car with his father's permission.

As Spataro started to pass, the Jenkins car turned left to a side road and the driver failed to give the oncoming vehicle a signal that he was turning. The two cars collided.

In the cross claim, Jenkins said Spataro was traveling too fast at the time of the accident. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at the trial and the foreman of the jury was Norman F. Geatz Sr.

No Criminal Charges Seen In Fatality

Mrs. Spano Was Struck By Truck

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the State Police, said yesterday no criminal charges will be placed in the accident in which Mrs. Mary Spano, 49, of Keyser, was fatally injured November 19 on Greene Street.

Mrs. Spano was struck by a truck operated by Jack Charles Trexler, 21, of 511 City View Terrace, as she and her companion, Mrs. Carmelia Jeffries, 33, of Piedmont, started to cross Greene Street near the intersection of Washington Street.

Mrs. Spano was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital but died of a fractured skull shortly after being admitted.

Mrs. Jeffries also was struck by the vehicle and sustained a fractured arm and ribs and injuries to her right leg. She was released from Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday.

The truck operated by Trexler was headed south on Greene Street when it struck the two women.

Sgt. Baker said he questioned Mrs. Jeffries yesterday and two eye witnesses just after the accident, and determined there was no criminal negligence on the part of the truck driver.

Trexler also was questioned the day after the fatal accident by Sgt. Baker.

TB Seal Sales Reach $5,988 For Two Weeks

The Allegany-Garrett County Tuberculosis Association has collected $5,988.80 during the first two weeks of its annual Christmas Seal Drive.

Returns are running slightly behind figures for the same period last year when $6,219.90 was collected during the first two weeks.

During the second week of the drive $2,101.60 was donated by residents of Allegany County and $247.50 was contributed by Garrett countians.

Residents of the two counties are requested to send in their contributions early to avoid the Christmas rush.

Meeting Planned On Fertilizers

A Western Maryland conference for fertilizer and lime dealers and salesmen will be held at the Baltimore Livestock auction on U. S. Route 40 at West Friendship, some 20 miles west of Baltimore, from 9:30 a. m. until 3:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Other meetings arranged by Dr. James R. Miller, extension soils specialist of the University of Maryland, are being held at Cambridge on the Eastern Shore today and at LaPlata in Southern Maryland Thursday.

At these meetings extension and research specialists will present information on types of fertilizers, methods of application and the latest recommendations for field and horticultural crops. All persons interested in the sale and use of fertilizer and lime are urged to attend one of the meetings. This includes dealers and salesmen, chemical company representatives, county extension personnel, Soil Conservation Service, vocational agriculture teachers and other interested farm leaders.

Co-Op Plans Meeting

About 24 women will attend a regional meeting of farm home advisory committees of Southern States Cooperative Friday at the Algonquin Hotel to outline plans for the coming year.

Miss Mattie Kessler, director of women's activities for Southern States, will be in charge. Committees from Cumberland, Lonaconing, Romney and Keyser will attend.

Blood Quota Surpassed In Tri-Towns

96 Pints Given To Red Cross

Residents of the Tri-Towns area yesterday afternoon gave 96 pints of blood, 11 pints more than the quota, when the Red Cross Bloodmobile Unit from Johnstown, Pa., visited the home of Victory Post 155, American Legion in Westernport.

The visit was sponsored by the Westernport-Luke Chapter and the Piedmont Chapter of the Red Cross. This is the second time that the quota has been surpassed when the bloodmobile unit visited that area. The last time 130 pints of blood were given.

Those persons who joined the two-gallon club yesterday are Carl Whisner, Bloomington; Mrs. Anna B. Wilt, Westernport; Augustine Diaz, Luke; Fred Imhoff, Piedmont, and John Taylor, Westernport.

Those who joined the one-gallon club include Noel Obenshain, Garrett County; Cecil Kenner, Midland; Mrs. Roberta Green, Piedmont, and Ernest Hitt, Westernport.

Nineteen persons gave for the first time yesterday. Physicians on duty were Dr. William Lesh, Dr. Robert W. Bess Jr. and Dr. Mildred Sheesley.

Mrs. Paul Cueva of Luke was chairman of the blood recruitment committee and was assisted by Mrs. Carleton Bell of Piedmont.

In February the bloodmobile unit will visit in Piedmont.

County Issues Five Permits For Dwellings

Permits for five homes which will be constructed at a total cost of about $35,700 were issued by the Allegany County Assessing Department.

W. A. McGraw, of B Avenue, Potomac Park, indicated he plans to build a brick dwelling at a cost of about $12,000. The 28 by 48 feet home will have a concrete block foundation, asphalt shingle roof and a cellar.

A Cresaptown resident, Paul D. Weaver, was issued a permit to build a 29 by 44 feet brick veneer dwelling at a cost of about $7,200. The home will have a concrete block foundation, asphalt shingle roof and a cellar.

Malcolm Bray, RD 3, Keyser, plans to construct a $6,000 frame dwelling along the McMullen Highway. The 26 by 40 feet home will have a concrete block foundation, shingle roof and a cellar.

Robert Lynch of RD 2, Flintstone, was granted a permit to build a frame dwelling at a cost of $6,000. The 24 by 40 feet structure will have five rooms and a bath. The foundation will be of composition material.

Olen L. Durr, of RD 5, city, was issued a permit to construct a five-room home with bath at a cost of $4,500. He said the foundation and walls will be of concrete block and the home will have a cellar.

Cub Scout Training Course Set Tonight

The second in a series of three training sessions for Cub Scout leaders of Nemacolin Trail District will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at Central YMCA.

Instructors for tonight's session will be Dr. Thomas Baucum, training chairman; William Stewart, Cubmaster of Pack 30, Frostburg, and Charles Newman, field representative for Nemacolin District.

A film entitled "What Cub Scouting Is" will be shown and Mr. Stewart, who also is an art instructor at Frostburg State Teachers College, will present an exhibit on how to make Christmas ornaments.

RC Bloodmobile Visits Here Today

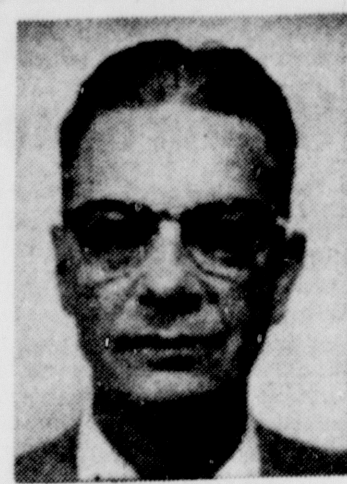

The Bloodmobile Unit of the Red Cross at Johnstown, Pa., will visit the home of Cumberland Aerie 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, today from noon until 6 p. m.

Mrs. Jane Legge, executive secretary of the Allegany County Chapter of the Red Cross, said last night that blood is urgently needed and residents are asked to give blood during the afternoon.

Hercules Official Gives Support To 4-H Clubs, FFA

A leading officer of the Hercules Powder Company has experience in recent years with members of the 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America. "I can only say that if our nation's future rested in the hands of young people such as these, I would be content. . . . What they have done with their lives already, and what they are preparing themselves to do in the future is inspiring to me."

County Agent Joseph M. Steger was informed about Mr. Mayfield's remarks in a letter he received from Richard S. Fey, superintendent of all American young people.

CURTIS WILLIAMS

Quality Control Section Plans Dinner Meeting

Customer Complaint Will Be Discussed

"Outgoing Control of Quality and Customer Complaints" will be discussed by Curtis Williams, Evendale, Ohio, at a meeting of the Cumberland Section, American Society for Quality Control, here Thursday.

He will speak during a program which will begin at 8 p. m. following a 6:30 p. m. dinner at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Mr. Williams has been in the inspection field for 30 years and has been employed in the Quality Control Department of the General Electric Company since 1951.

He attended the General Motors Technological Institute in Flint, Mich., and Northwestern University in Chicago and has a mechanical engineering background.

Mr. Williams has published two articles on quality control, one in "Aircraft and Missiles" magazine and the other in "Mill and Factory." He has also given numerous talks on various phases of quality control.

County Taxes' Interest Rate Becomes Higher

Residents of Allegany County who have not paid their 1959 state or county real estate and personal property taxes are reminded that beginning today the interest on county taxes becomes two per cent and one and a half per cent on state taxes.

William B. Orndorff, county tax collector, said yesterday that delinquent tax memos have been mailed to residents of District 1 to 24 reminding them to make their payments as soon as possible.

A member of the tax office will mail memos to the residents of District 25 through 3, as soon as possible. A survey of delinquent taxpayers was made on November 2 and the office immediately began sending out reminders.

Meanwhile some of the delinquent taxpayers have paid their taxes, according to Mr. Orndorff, who said that quite a few residents have paid their taxes with the receipt of their Christmas Club checks. Others, he said, pay their taxes from bonuses given by companies.

Mr. Orndorff is reminding the delinquent taxpayers that if ownership of property has changed, the name and address of the proper party to whom the tax bill should be sent, should be forwarded to the tax office.

Fourth Street Made One Way Eastbound Route

Fourth Street became a one-way street eastbound yesterday afternoon.

The change was announced by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming, who said signs reversing movement of traffic on the street were changed immediately.

He said the Police Department will give people in the area time enough to become familiar with the change before offenders will be prosecuted.

Meeting Place Changed

The Western Maryland Bridge Association will meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p. m. at the grill room of the Fort Cumberland Hotel until further notice. Officials of the group said last night. The bridge players had been meeting at the Women's Civic Club.

Weather Turns Crisp, Clear In Tri-State

Temperatures Below Normal For Month

The weather remained crisp and clear throughout the Tri-State area yesterday in the wake of the weekend snowfall. Highways which had been icy and hazardous were reported bare although the ground is still white in some sections.

Western Maryland's winterland, Garrett County, had an accumulation of four-and-one-half inches of snow over the weekend but roads were clear yesterday and the cutting, icy winds had blown away much of the white covering as the grip of winter lifted somewhat.

R. E. Weber, Oakland weather observer, reported a high of 28 degrees yesterday with the mercury dipping to a low of 16 early in the morning. No additional snow fell but the ground still is covered with about two inches of snow.

The highways and secondary roads in the county are much better, with State Roads Commission officials and state police reporting most of them clear of drifts and slush. The barometer is rising with an indication of better weather today.

In the Cumberland district the weather was crisp and cold with a high temperature reading of 39 degrees and the low recorded at 23 degrees.

This was considerably warmer than the low of 13 registered on November 18.

Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, noted, however, that the average temperature for the month, 40.9 degrees was somewhat lower than the normal average of 43.1 for November. There was two-tenths of an inch of snow Sunday to bring the total precipitation for the month to 2.63 inches, slightly higher than the norm of 2.18. Most of this precipitation fell within the last few days of the month. Mr. Golden pointed out.

Elsewhere the weather followed the same pattern. West Virginia State Police at Romney reported all roads clear with temperatures hovering in the 40s at nightfall. No more snow was reported.

Pennsylvania, which had a serious traffic tieup on the turnpike lasting until late Sunday night, reported everything normal yesterday. The mercury was in the 30s and highways were in good condition. No serious accidents were reported despite the huge traffic jams on the toll road Sunday.

State Roads Commission trucks worked routinely in Western Maryland yesterday with no new crews out last night.

Larger Court Of Appeals Is Proposed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Legislative Council will be asked Wednesday to approve legislation to increase the number of judges on the Court of Appeals from five to seven.

The plan is aimed at lightening the load on the high court and is subject to approval by the voters. Sen. Edward O. Weant (D-Carroll), chairman of the committee that drafted the measure, said he hoped the proposal could be placed on next November's ballot.

The bill also would increase the appellate circuits from four to six, with two judges coming from Baltimore. The counties within each circuit also would be shuffled from their present lineup.

The measure is among several to be considered by the Legislative council, in-between session study group of the General Assembly, at its two day meeting here.

The council will consider such subjects as the Welfare Department's program for aid to dependent children, compulsory school attendance, dancing school regulations, nursing homes and changes in the unemployment insurance law.
